Plan $10 Million N. Front Street Mall

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON
The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency has taken the wraps off a proposal it has been studying for more than a year now — a plan to build a $10 million mall on North Front Street between the parking garage and Converse Street and reaching back to Plaza Road.

The proposal is from a group called Kingston Mall Associates and includes Normal Friedman and Seymour Leible of New York City and Arthur Bressman and Jules Chorna of Poughkeepsie. Bressman and Chorna are executives with the Luckey Platt Department Store in Poughkeepsie. Luckey Platt plans a major department store in the mall, providing the "anchor" or major tenant.

According to the urban renewal agency the key items in the proposal are these:

LAND ACQUISITION — Land would be acquired by the urban renewal agency at an estimated cost of $250,000. It includes all that property from the parking garage to Converse Street on the north side of North Front Street. The agency already owns the bulk of the land from the rear lot lines of the North Front Street properties to Plaza Road.

PARKING — The redeveloper proposes to provide 515 of the 1,100 parking spaces officials say are needed to service the mall and the Wall Street shopping area. A $250,000 expansion of the parking garage increasing its capacity from the current 360 to 605 is proposed.

THE MALL ITSELF — Developers envision a year-round fully enclosed, temperature controlled shopping mall on three levels with a total of 403,775 square feet of space. 309,825 of that devoted to retail space, the rest listed as enclosed mall and walkway area.

COSTS — Overall cost has been estimated at between nine and ten million dollars by the developers. Agency officials estimate that city taxes, based on a minimum $3 million assessment would bring in $123,750 a year with another $200,000 a year in city sales tax.

Urban renewal officials estimate the development costs at under $500,000 to the agency and the city and figure that at $325,000 a year in taxes, the city should get its money back in about two years.

However, urban renewal director James G. Connors emphasized that there is still a good deal of work to be done before the developer can begin on what he hopes will be a spring, 1974 construction start.

This proposal is defined by the federal government as a major change in the city's urban renewal plan and as such an amendatory to that plan will have to be filed.

That entails a good deal of time and paperwork, Connors said, and will also require public hearings and action by the Common Council.

Although in the words of the agency report, the developer is "extremely anxious" to learn whether his proposal is acceptable to city officials, Connors said that the agency and the city will require solid assurances that once permission is granted by the city and the city and the necessary federal requirements are met, the developer will carry out his plans.

"This could be a tremendous boost to the area," Connors said, "but we want assurances that these people are going to carry out what they propose."

As such, it is expected that a "substantial" good faith deposit will be required by the developer before any official city or agency action is undertaken.

MIDEAST OIL—Despite the oil embargo from the Middle East, at least one country from that area—Israel—is shipping oil to the United States. Small quantities of the Israeli oil are being test-marketed in the New Jersey area, including this gasoline station at Maple Shade. The Israeli imports, some feel, may help ease the energy pinch here.

TIME BOMB—The fuel shortage has prompted many motorists to store a container of gasoline in their car's trunk, but this demonstration by the New York City Fire Department proves that the practice could be fatal. Five gallons of gas were stored in this car's trunk; the auto was then rammed by another car. The ensuing explosion demolished both vehicles. (UPI TELE PHOTOS)

Downtown Housing Interest

KINGSTON
Interest in the Kingston Urban Renewal's retail parcel in Broadway East is not as keen as in uptown parcels, but there is interest nonetheless in an area that some critics had given up for lost.

James G. Connors, executive director of the urban renewal agency, revealed that the agency has been contacted by an Alexandria, Va., developer who proposes to build 110 units of senior citizen housing, along with a small office building and some retail facilities, including a food store, in the five-acre parcel just below city hall known as City Hall Plaza.

Kingston is part of national HUD study. Story is on page 42.

Agency officials met with James E. Linde, the Virginia developer, on Nov. 7 and discussed his proposals. Linde told agency officials that he had inspected the parcel, "contacted his mortgage and construction people and was very much interested in obtaining necessary financing."

Linde is expected to report back to the agency within the next two weeks with a firm commitment on financing.

Apparently Linde is not concerned with the condition of Broadway West across the street. According to the agency report, Linde told them that "Broadway West did not discourage him from trying to prepare a feasible development plan." He said private enterprise would take care of Broadway West if he was able to develop the retail parcel in Broadway East.

Connors said the agency still hasn't given up on its original plan for a major supermarket and shopping plaza on that five-acre parcel, barren for the past three years, but indications are that if Linde or someone like him comes up with a reasonable alternative it will be accepted.

Job Losses Mount Despite Energy Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration is optimistic its energy policies can minimize the loss of jobs because of the fuel shortage.

But the toll continues, with new layoffs affecting thousands of workers in the automobile and aviation industries. "There are some difficult days ahead on unemployment," one government economist said Wednesday. He predicted the jobless rate would rise from its present 4.5 per cent but would fall short of the 6 per cent rate forecast widely by private economists.

And Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton said that, if the nation cooperates in the administration's fuel-conservation measures, "We will minimize the impact on jobs."

Meanwhile, General Motors ordered new layoffs affecting thousands of workers. The giant auto maker is slowing production because of slack demand for more larger cars, partly as a result of the gasoline shortage.

The number of workers idled at each plant was not announced.

American Airlines said it was laying off 214 of its 3,700 pilots effective Jan. 2 as a result of flight cancellations caused by shortages in jet fuel. A spokesman said further cuts in personnel might be necessary.

Cessna Aircraft Co. said it will lay off 2,400 workers by Friday night and blamed production cutbacks on President Nixon's reduction of fuel for business flying.

Other layoffs have been made in the chemical, construction and textile industries. Travel and recreation industries also are expected to be hard hit.

In Florida, where tourism is the leading industry, an economist said 180,000 more residents of the state could be out of work by April because of the fuel shortage.

There were these other developments:

—Arab leaders, meeting in Algiers, said they would continue to hold back oil from countries they consider friendly to Israel. The Arab oil-producing nations have slapped a total embargo on the United States.

—The director of a Ford Foundation energy project said the United States faces possible oil and gas shortages and higher prices for years to come.

Related energy stories, photos on pages 4, 25.

—Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, said last winter's heating-fuel shortage may have been conjured up by the major oil companies. Moss, the first witness at a Senate interior subcommittee opened hearings into whether oil companies are competitive, suggested limiting each oil company to one phase of operation, such as drilling, refining or retailing.

—The National Safety Council said Nixon's proposals to conserve gasoline could save as many as 14,000 lives a year on the nation's highways.

Meanwhile, oil executives summoned to help manage federal petroleum controls will remain on their company payrolls, an Interior Department lawyer says.

The attorney said these executives will be exempt from conflict-of-interest prosecution that might otherwise result from such an arrangement.

Interior Secretary Morton announced Wednesday he will mobilize some 250 oil industry officials into a standby "Executive Reserve" in December "to provide advice and technical assistance in petroleum distribution planning," as the government gears up fuel allocation and rationing systems.

One Agency Rejects Lloyd Site

By WADE BURKHART

LLOYD
A report by a Boston-based engineering firm commissioned by the Power Authority of the State of New York has recommended rejection of a site in the Town of Lloyd for a nuclear power plant because it would be too expensive to build.

The site getting the Power Authority rejection is nearly the same as that currently under study for a proposed nuclear power plant by the State Atomic and Space Development Authority (ASDA).

The engineering report, dated October 1973 and compiled by the engineering firm of Stone and Webster, was furnished to the Power Authority.

The Power Authority has been directed by the State Legislature to build a power plant to meet the growing needs of the Metropolitan Transportation Authority (MTA), which in terms of power needs is the largest of its type in the country.

In the report, entitled "Progress Report Metropolitan Transportation Authority Plant Site Study," one section was devoted to five sites given detailed economic study to see how expensive it would be to build a nuclear plant on them. The sites were Athens-Leeds and Cementon, in Greene County, Lloyd, Cruger Island near Red Hook, and Denning Point, near Beacon.

Cruger Island and Denning Point were ruled out because of the adverse visual impact of putting a power plant on the sites.

Lloyd was rejected for economic reasons. Only the Cruger Island site was found to be more expensive.

Building atomic power plants is not cheap. According to the Stone and Webster report, it would cost $500 million to build one on the Lloyd site. By comparison, the two sites recommended for further study, Athens-Leeds and Cementon, would cost $543.4 million and $555.1 million, respectively. The plant as a power source, the site planning to build a power plant, was ruled out as a site for a but is in the business of identifying fossil fuel plant because it flying and holding potential as would be too expensive to tie atomic power plant sites for development by private companies.

The Athens-Leeds site is also being given consideration as a site for a fossil fuel-fired plant, as is the Quarry site south of Poughkeepsie.

A spokesman for the Power Authority said the rejection of the Lloyd site did not mean the site was unsuitable for a nuclear power plant. He said what it meant was "for our purposes of ASDA for the site are not a suitable site at this time. It is not precluded as a site for somebody."

The main factor in raising the price of the Lloyd site, according to the report, was its distance from the Hudson River

Power Authority. ASDA is not the site.

The effect of these disclosures was done "for a specific purpose, for the specific needs of the Power Authority, in a specific time element," and was not necessarily applicable to ASDA requirements.

He said ASDA had not done final decision on the Lloyd site, and such studies would be but that "service area" would be important too. Unlike the utility which was to develop

Chapin Indicted for Lying

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dwight L. Chapin, President Nixon's former appointments secretary, was indicted today on four counts of lying to the Watergate grand jury.

Each count of the indictment, opened by Chief U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, charged Chapin lied about his relationship with Donald H. Segretti, an old college chum of Chapin's who recently pleaded guilty to a three-count charge of violating federal election laws.

Segretti is serving a six-month sentence in a federal detention facility in California.

Segretti admitted distributing campaign literature during the Florida Democratic presidential primary last year falsely alleging sexual misconduct on the part of Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.

The first count of the indictment against Chapin charged that he lied when he told the grand jury that he was not familiar with Segretti's distribution of campaign literature.

The second count charged he lied when he said he suggested that Segretti talk to the FBI.

The third count charged he lied when he said he could not recall giving Segretti directions or instructions about which Democratic presidential candidates to concentrate on as part of a GOP effort to disrupt their campaign.

Count four charged Chapin lied when he said he did not know what Segretti had been paid for his activities.

The indictment was obtained by the political action task force of Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

President Nixon to present documents he hopes will clear allegations against him. Story page 3.

The indictment was returned by a federal grand jury impaneled last August to investigate alleged "dirty tricks" in the 1972 presidential campaign and related matters stemming from the Watergate case.

Chapin, who left the White House staff early this year and is now an official with United Airlines, was charged with four counts of making false declarations to the Watergate panel last April 11.

The charges are similar to perjury and are punishable by a maximum penalty of $10,000 and five years in prison on each count.

Meanwhile, there are still more gaps in President Nixon's Watergate tapes.

White House counsel J. Fred Buzhardt told U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica Wednesday that, in addition to gaps previously reported, the tapes contain a number of "spots" where there is "no apparent conversation." Assistant Water-

Prosecutor Richard Ben-Veniste said some of the blanks last "several minutes."

In other developments: The President's secretary, Rose Mary Woods, contended in court she might have caused a five-minute "gap" in one tape, but not 18 minutes. Also, she said, she cannot be held accountable for "erasing" anything, because no one has shown there was anything on the tape to erase when she got it.

"I don't know..." she sighed toward the end of two-and-a-half days on the witness stand. "I have tried to explain it every way I possibly can."

Boy, 5, Perishes in City House Fire

KINGSTON

A five-year-old boy died and another three-year-old boy was severely injured as dense smoke from a fire probably caused by careless smoking filled the bedroom in which they were sleeping early today.

The mother of the dead boy and the father of the injured boy apparently groped through the smoke-filled apartment at 110 Franklin Street, in vain attempts to reach the children before they were forced from the building.

Killed in the fire was Wayne Markle, Gilberto Alvarez, 3, was rushed to Albany Medical Center Hospital suffering from severe smoke inhalation after being removed from the building by Kingston firemen.

Also injured were Linda Markle, 24, the mother of the dead boy, and Gilberto Alvarez, 25, the father of the three-year-old.

According to authorities Miss Markle and Alvarez occupied a second floor apartment of the building owned and occupied on the first floor by Mrs. Laura Markle, Miss Markle's mother.

Kingston detectives, who investigated at the scene said the two children were sleeping in a back bedroom off their parents' bedroom. The two adults woke apparently shortly before 7:50 a. m. to find their apartment completely filled with dense smoke. Both apparently attempted to locate the children but were forced from the building by heat and smoke.

Firemen arrived at the scene moments later, and rushed into the upstairs apartment to locate the children. Firefighter Frank Dart, who was the first into the children's bedroom, said he found Wayne Markle lying on the bed. The second child was found lying on the floor next to the bed. "I picked him up and he started moaning and crying," Dart said. Wayne had made no sounds when he was passed out an upstairs window to a porch roof. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Benedictine Hospital.

Fire Chief Robert Maines said the blaze apparently started in an overstuffed chair or couch in the living room of the apartment and was probably caused by a cigarette.

The parents had gone to bed sometime after 3 a. m., and the fire evidently smoldered for several hours.

The adult Alvarez was treated and released at Benedictine Hospital for hand injuries. Miss Markle was admitted in fair condition suffering from smoke inhalation, burns of the face and a fractured vertebrae, apparently when she leaped or fell from a second story window.

TRIAL MAY BE UPSET — The unexplained severing of the head of Mrs. Laura Carpi (L) from body three years ago by the NYC Medical Examiner's office may have upset the trial of the dead woman's husband Colin C. Carpi (R) for murder. The defense has charged that the prosecution attempted to suppress evidence in the bizarre case. The N. Y. Times quoting sources within the N. Y. Medical Examiner's office, said authorities only discovered Mrs. Carpi was shot in the head because the head was severed while the body was buried in a Potter's field 20 days after it was removed from the East River on June 9, 1971. At first it was thought she had drowned. (UPI)

City Campaign Figures Revealing

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON
If one is to take campaign spending statements by various city candidates at face value, one is drawn to the conclusion that campaign contributions are rare on one hand, but on the other, it doesn't cost very much to run for office.
Most of the aldermanic candidates, for instance, swore that they received no money at all, and spent very little. Joseph McGrane, Second Ward Democratic, was one of the exceptions. He filed receipts of $21.40, a contribution from Mrs. Jeannette Kelly, and expenditures of $85.38, for advertising and campaign literature and paraphanelia.
On the Republican side, aldermanic candidate Walter S. Clark showed receipts of $64, all from outgoing Republican 13th Ward Republican Alderman Titus B. Sims, who backed up his "wholehearted endorsement" of Clark with cash. Clark spent $101.41 in a losing effort to Henry F. Dreiser, the Democrat. Dreiser, for his part, said he received no money, but spent $126.

Aldermanic spending ranges from zero — Democrats Paul Mills, Emilio Priano and Philip DeCicco — to as high as $470, the amount recorded by Thomas M. Davitt, Seventh Ward incumbent Republican defeated by James H. Howard. Robert Kreines, First Ward Republican, was another "big spender," claiming he disbursed $467.
The picture at the "top of the ticket" is about as revealing. Mayor Francis R. Koenig and Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo filed pre-election statements on Oct. 29 election statement, it shows declaring that they had neither spent nor received any money. Koenig and Gallo have not filed post-campaign statements. The deadline was Nov. 26.

William B. Merrill Jr., the Republican candidate for mayor filed a pre-campaign statement showing approximately $2,900 received and $1,200 spent. But Merrill's running mate filed a statement declaring he had neither spent nor received any money.
Merrill's post-election statement is more revealing. Including figures from his pre-election statement, it shows $2,315 spent and $3,315 received. The bulk of Merrill's contributions were raised at a dinner on June 18 where he realized $1,510. In addition, Harry Kaprelian donated $300, Donald Ferraro of Port Ewen donated $150, and Ruth Cawein, Douw Myers, John Sterley, Steve Conti, Joseph Gentile, Frank Grimaldi and Bernard Feeney Sr. donated $100 each. Merrill's statement shows that his major area of spending was for expenses for William B. Merrill.
The law requires that candidates file statements on all money received and spent for political purposes. Committees working for the election or reelection of candidates must also file. City candidates (aldermen, city judge, mayor and alderman-at-large) file their statements with the city clerk. Committees file with the secretary of state in Albany.

Committee Approves Traffic Light

KINGSTON
The Traffic Committee of the common Council has recommended a traffic light at the junction of Miller's Lane and Lucas Avenue, following complaints by a number of mothers in the area and an on-site inspection by the committee Wednesday night.
"We are in favor of some type of signalization," Alderman Peter J. Mancuso (D-12th Ward), chairman of the Traffic Committee told the Freeman today. Traffic Officer Richard Scherer has been directed to write Superintendent of Public Works Charles J. Cole for Cole's recommendations on the type of signalization needed.

The committee is talking about two kinds of traffic lights: the regular kind which is timed for traffic and operates automatically and the kind referred to as "cross walk signalization" which is activated by pedestrians pushing a button on the light pole.
Common Council action is expected at the January meeting and the new light should be in place later that month. Aldermen Brian D. Smith (R-Third Ward) and Clarence Stoutenburg (D-Fourth Ward) also serve on the Traffic Committee.
The complaints of dangerous conditions at Lucas and Miller's Lane go back at least seven months when Mrs. Marvin Schildon notified Police Chief Julius M. Glassman, presenting him with a petition from area residents.
Former Traffic Officer Ernest Bartoff was dispatched to the scene by Glassman. Bartoff filed a report detailing the number of children who crossed at that intersection. Bartoff reported back to Glassman but apparently that was as far as the report went. It was never received by the Traffic Committee of the Council.

'Your Money and Pants,' ...A Chilling Experience

Two shotgun-wielding bandits in their mid-20s held up a service station on the Taconic Parkway shortly after 9 p.m. Wednesday night and made off with an estimated $150 and the attendant's trousers.
Police theorize that the thieves stole the attendant's trousers in an effort to keep him from following them. The attendant was not identified.
The attendant, despite the chilling experience, managed to reach a telephone and phoned state police who now have an intensive manhunt on for the culprits. The suspects are of medium height; one is black, the other is white.
They were last seen in a 1973 green Ford Pinto with a license plate beginning with the numbers 251. Anyone with information is advised to contact Millbrook state police.

Congress Probing SBA Office

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The possibility of criminal involvement in millions of dollars of loans approved by the Richmond, Va., office of the Small Business Administration (SBA) has been raised before a congressional committee.

Russell Hamilton, former director of the Philadelphia regional office of SBA, testified Wednesday that one employee in the Richmond office is afraid to testify "for fear of his life," while the office's financial director kept a diary and secured a gun to guard against organized crime.

The financial director, Kenneth Bowe, was quoted by Hamilton as saying he so feared organized crime influence in Richmond lending activities that he bought a gun and kept a diary of office happenings for "insurance."

"If anything happened to him, it (the diary) was to go to the Washington Post," Hamilton said.

Contacted in Richmond, Bowe denied any knowledge of organized crime influence and said he used the .22-caliber target pistol he obtained four months ago "to shoot targets."

He described the diary as "notes," saying: "When I heard something I'd jot it down... things are getting blown out of proportion... most of what I know now, I read in the newspaper."

Hamilton said the diary is now in a safe in the office of the SBA's chief legal counsel, Greg Austin, but Bowe said he made no copies of his notes and as the head of the Richmond office until Nov. 15, still has the originals.

In other testimony Wednesday, Hamilton said SBA Ad-by problems with loans approved congressional investigators before going to the SBA with recommendations of other key his information because he "committed" early in his SBA officials to fire Regan. wasn't sure he could trust any Hamilton, who supervised the of his SBA superiors. After the congressional investigation "CYA—Cover your you-know-began, Hamilton said he what" in Richmond. He testified identical information fied that because the confidence to a top SBA official "in tial memo was leaked to confidence." But that information was SBA were changed in an effort leaked to Kleppe, Hamilton to cover up or minimize the said, and what followed was a charges.

Nixon Plans Rebuttals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will start soliciting political contributions for his re-election campaign. Among the allegations he plans to rebut:

—That he used improper influence to insure that International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. (ITT) would be able to retain the Hartford Fire Insurance Co. against Justice Department antitrust charges, in return for a $400,000 contribution to convene the Republican National Convention in San Diego.

—That a $1 million investment fund was managed in his behalf by his friend, Charles "Bebe" Rebozo, of Florida.

—That the President's daughter, Tricia Cox, profited from tax regulations in Florida.

—That Nixon approved an increase in the milk subsidy repayment to the industry for $2 million in contributions to his re-election campaign.

Nixon has ended a series of nine meetings in which he discussed Watergate and other subjects privately with 218 congressmen and 81 senators of both parties.

The President has had a team of lawyers and White House staffers busy compiling detailed reports on subjects ranging from his personal finances and income tax payments to allegations that he used improper influence to solicit political contributions for his re-election campaign. Among the allegations he plans to rebut:

The President has had a team of lawyers and White House staffers busy compiling detailed reports on subjects ranging from his personal finances and income tax payments to allegations that he used improper influence to solicit political contributions for his re-election campaign. Among the allegations he plans to rebut:

—That he used improper influence to insure that International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. (ITT) would be able to retain the Hartford Fire Insurance Co. against Justice Department antitrust charges, in return for a $400,000 contribution to convene the Republican National Convention in San Diego.

—That a $1 million investment fund was managed in his behalf by his friend, Charles "Bebe" Rebozo, of Florida.

—That the President's daughter, Tricia Cox, profited from tax regulations in Florida.

Pioneer 10 Spacecraft Visits Planet Jupiter

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI) — The Pioneer 10 spacecraft voyaged to the deadly magnetic field of Jupiter today and sped two minutes ahead of schedule towards discovery of the large planet's host of awesome secrets.

The secrets lie at the heart of the mystery of how the solar system, and the Earth, were born. Answers would be applied to everything from producing nuclear energy to controlling Earth weather.

Pioneer is the first spacecraft to fly past Mars towards the solar system's outer planets. Eventually, the vehicle will become the first to escape the solar system and journey silently into the Milky Way galaxy.

Space Agency controllers learned Wednesday that Jupiter is heavier than thought—just enough so that its gravity is pulling Pioneer toward a target above Jupiter's cloudtops two minutes faster than calculated at blastoff 22 months ago. Now 3.2 million miles from Jupiter, the 570-pound Pioneer is returning data of great value to Earth computers from its 11 instruments. Information will include 340 color photographs of Jupiter and 10 of its largest moons.

A brightly hewed mass 1,300 times the volume of Earth, Jupiter rotates so fast it's day is only 10 hours long. It seems to be composed largely of hydrogen, helium and other gases.

On the way to its target, Pioneer is mapping the structure of Jupiter's magnetic field—a potential death trap for the spacecraft. Radiation one million times that of Earth's Van Allen belt could knock out Pioneer circuitry, and a flick in the dust belt could smash a large hole in the speeding craft. Jupiter radiates three times more energy than it receives from the sun and scientists wonder what kind of a dynamo produces it.

All that radiation might result if Jupiter is a new planet condensing or "falling together," said scientists. Perhaps Jupiter is not a planet at all but rather a still-born star, a twin of the sun.

In spite of the clouds shrouding Jupiter, Pioneer's sophisticated instruments should be able to tell something about what the interior consists of. One theory is that the core is hydrogen metal and another is that the core is liquid.

Possibly the most tantalizing question is whether Jupiter could support primitive forms of life. The planet resembles what the earth is believed to have been 4 billion years ago, and some scientists are certain that conditions for life on Jupiter are ideal.

Skylab Picture-Taking Tour

HOUSTON (UPI) — Space officials said the Skylab energy minimizer is really no problem at all and okayed a picture taking tour of the western United States today.

Astronauts Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue are to photograph the western United States today without rolling the station as they usually do. The lighting is good enough for them to make the picture taking sweep at an angle instead of straight down. Skylab program director William C. Schneider said engineers found an excessive amount of the gas was used Tuesday because of special circumstances and shouldn't for another Earth resources happen again. Flight controllers pass, but no maneuvers for had canceled any maneuvers of Kohoutek photography will be Skylab for Earth or comet allowed on the same day as viewing until they understood Earth studies.

why six times as much gas than planned was used. "We feel we have essentially eliminated the restrictions on sweeps, but all of Kohoutek maneuvers for the rest of the viewing should be accomplished," Schneider said. "We plished."

believe the remainder of the mission will continue essentially as planned. We'll probably be more careful about how we do things, though."

Schneider said the Astronauts will roll the station over Friday for another Earth resources pass, but no maneuvers for had canceled any maneuvers of Kohoutek photography will be Skylab for Earth or comet allowed on the same day as viewing until they understood Earth studies.

Schneider said they will be lucky to perform all 50 of the planned Earth resources sweeps, but all of Kohoutek maneuvers for the rest of the viewing should be accomplished. "We plished."

Students Protest In Seoul

SEOUL (UPI) — Hundreds of students battled riot police and launched demonstrations today demanding a pledge from Korean President Park Chung-hee to return to democracy.

About 1,000 Yonsei University students threw rocks at 300 riot policemen in the streets. The police hurled canisters of tear gas at the young people.

The largest demonstration began Wednesday night when 3,000 Ehwa Women's University staged an overnight sit-in at the school auditorium. When authorities announced they had decided to close the school for three days, the women left and went home.

At the meeting, the students demanded that Park's government restore a "truly democratic system" in Korea.

About 500 students of Hanyang University today demanded the government end its "over-dependence" on Japan in economic matters.

Another 500 at Soodo Women's Normal College voted to boycott examinations scheduled to begin today.

The basic demands of the two-month-old demonstrations still are that the government keep hands off the universities. Specifically, student leaders have asked for an end to the stationing of police on campus and freedom for students arrested in earlier demonstrations.

In the past two or three weeks, however, the demands have been widened to include freedom of the press and a return to democracy.

Park and his supporters last year pushed a bill through the South Korean Congress dissolving that body and eliminating elections.

FAST LOANS FOR THE COMPANY PRESIDENT OR THE SECRETARIES.

Listen, we live here in town. A young, single secretary who lives here comes in and tells us she has a smashing deal on a charter to London; she needs the money right away, and she promises to pay it back; will we say no?

Hardly ever.

In fact, she can come in to Chase Manhattan for an instalment loan, and our loan officer will love it. It makes his day, and it could make her year.

There's another way to get money from Chase. Suppose you spot a great buy on a dress Payday is four days away; you're flat. Well, just show us your BankAmericard®. No fancy paperwork, and it takes just three minutes. (If you don't have a card, you can get one from Chase. No charge.)

Each Chase borrowing system is the right one at different times, for different reasons.

They all help you do one thing: manage your money. Sometimes called budgeting by non-bankers. Borrowing money to buy something now when you'll have the money later is part of managing money. Business works that way; there's no reason you can't.

And no bank has more money managing conveniences than Chase.

Borrowing can be a very heavy subject, but it doesn't have to be a hassle—not for secretaries, not for bricklayers, not for dentists, not for the company president, not for anybody who banks at Chase.

UBA Extends Two Invitations

By CARL GRAHAM

TOWN OF ULSTER
Two shopping center businessmen's groups have been invited to join the Ulster Businessmen's Association.

UBA at its Wednesday night meeting at Lincoln Park Inn voted to extend an invitation to the Mammoth Mall Merchants Association and the Ulster Plaza Association to join UBA, with all merchants members of the two groups to have all members privileges, including the right to vote and hold office. Robert Regan, UBA president, said a committee could be formed from representatives of all three groups to plan joint promotional and advertising efforts. Although becoming a part of UBA, the two merchant groups would retain full autonomy in dealing with their own specific problems, Regan said.

Peter Scheerer, MMA president, who attended the meeting, said he would bring the proposal before the associations Board of Directors at its next meeting. Scheerer said he felt there were many areas where a combination of the three groups could be more effective, including joint efforts to attract more business from northern Dutchess County. Scheerer said his group includes 20 of the 22 merchants doing business at Mammoth Mall.

UBA adopted a 'Pledge' or 'Reliability' which will be printed on placards for display in member firm business places and used in the association's advertising. The association pledges to hold to the highest principles in the conduct of business, to be truthful in advertising, to provide prompt and adequate service, to promptly and provide a fair and reasonable remedy where justified, and to submit complaints to arbitration where a complaint cannot be solved to mutual satisfaction. Another pledge is not to exceed the amount of a cost estimate given in advance without prior consent of the customer.

To implement the arbitration pledge, UBA will set up a rotating panel of customer and business representatives, with names and telephone numbers imprinted on the pledge cards for customers to contact if they feel their complaint has not been handled properly.

Members discussed at length a proposal to change the name of the organization to "Ulster Business and Civic Association." It was decided to eliminate the word "civic" because the group felt it did not accurately describe the association's function. The suggestion to change "businessmen's" to "business" was made to avoid any suggestion of women being excluded from the association.

Regan appointed Louis Gruberg as chairman of a committee to study the matter further and make a report at the December meeting. Gruberg will be assisted by Gertrude Cole, Kathy Cornelske, and Sidney Musker.

Howard Fox was named chairman of the nominating committee. A slate of proposed officers for 1974 will be circulated to members by newsletter and election of officers will take place in December.

Joseph Cornelske, past president, was named head of a committee to make plans for the association's annual installation dinner-dance.

Senate OKs Medicare Proposal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has voted to broaden Medicare coverage to pay for prescription drugs to treat most chronic diseases of the 20 million elderly persons in the government health insurance program.

The proposal was attached to a bill raising Social Security benefits by 11 per cent—7 per cent upon enactment and 4 per cent in June, 1974.

The House has approved a similar 11 per cent increase, but has not considered the Medicare drug extension.

Last year, the House rejected such an amendment on grounds it would take too much out of the Social Security trust fund. The new amendment, however, carries an increase in Social Security taxes to pay for drug coverage.

The tax rate would go from its present 5.85 per cent of earnings to 5.9 per cent. The Senate bill also increases the amount of earnings subject to the tax from the present $10,800 to $13,200 a year.

Neither drugs only required periodically nor non-prescription drugs, except insulin, would be covered.

But drugs for these chronic diseases common to the elderly would be covered:

Diabetes, high blood pressure, cardiovascular disease, respiratory disease, chronic kidney disease, arthritis, rheumatism, gout, thyroid disease, cancer, epilepsy, Parkinson's disease, tuberculosis, glaucoma and myasthenia gravis.

Patients would have to pay $1 per prescription. Medicare would cover the remaining cost. Under existing law, Medicare only pays for drugs given to hospitalized patients.

Another provision in the bill provides a rebate payable four times a year, to poor working families earning under $5,600 a year of an amount roughly equal to what they and their employers pay in Social Security taxes.

The rebate is known as a "work bonus" and is intended to keep such families from quitting work and going on welfare — which often pays about as much as they earn by working.

Wounded Knee Testimony Continues

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP) — Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst says he doesn't recall being told that a group of reservation Indians erected a roadblock to prevent food and medical supplies from reaching Indian militants holding Wounded Knee, S.D.

Kleindienst's testimony came Wednesday during a pretrial hearing in federal court that began with a wide range of accusations against the government but has narrowed to a single roadblock incident during the 71-day occupation.

The hearing is on a defense motion seeking dismissal of all indictments against the more than 100 persons charged with crimes ranging from assault to the conspiracy in the takeover last spring. Final arguments and possibly a ruling were expected today.

The defense sought the dismissal on several grounds, including allegations that the government caused "massive prejudicial pretrial publicity" and that many of the indictments were so vague that they failed to specify a crime.

But the defense began focusing on "bad faith prosecution." Defense attorneys claim the government is being "selective and discriminatory" by prosecuting American Indian Movement (AIM) members but not others for crimes allegedly committed during the occupation.

Kleindienst said he didn't recall any information about the roadblock set up March 25 or 26 outside the federal blockade on the main road into Wounded Knee. The roadblock allegedly was manned by armed supporters of Richard Wilson, the anti-AIM chairman of the Oglala Sioux Tribe on the reservation.

U.S. District Judge Fred Nichol ruled that Kleindienst need not respond to a defense question asking if he didn't think the roadblock personnel should be arrested and indicted. Nichol agreed with a government objection that the question was speculative.

Earlier testimony showed that carloads of food and medical supplies were not allowed to pass through the roadblock, despite a federal court order permitting access to the village.

'Yes, There Is a Crisis'

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ
"There is a real energy crisis. Don't let anyone tell you different."

So said Ellen Zewel, of Spring Valley, the president of the National Consumers' Congress (NCC), when she met with a group of consumers group representatives at New Paltz Wednesday.

She was in New Paltz to bring local consumer groups up to date on what was happening on the national scene, and what actions the Washington-based NCC was taking.

Meeting with her were Ethel Thomas, representing the Irate Housewives; Belle Sundeen and Bob Powsner, Lower Ulster County Concerned Consumers; Louis Fagon, Concerned Consumers of New Paltz; and Jenia Becker and Doris Traschen, of the Albany Area Inflation Council.

Mrs. Zewel's statement on the energy crisis came after a question from Mrs. Becker as to whether there really was an energy crisis. Mrs. Zewel said, "Absolutely."

She said after the meeting that she and the NCC feel the two greatest dangers to consumers arising from the energy crisis were the possible strengthening of monopolies in America as an excuse to meet it, and the imposition of a tax at the point of sale, rather than a system of rationing and allocation, as a means of dampening demand.

She said the allocation of fuels must be "based on need rather than on who can afford it."

The NCC is extremely concerned with protecting consumers during the energy crisis, and is sending a letter to large groups of Congressmen calling for the inclusion of a number of points in any legislation directed toward meeting the energy crisis.

Among those points are: a guarantee of consumer input in the decision-making process; the no more than temporary relaxation of environmental controls during the crisis, with any relaxation limited to one year; the non-interference of energy legislation with anti-trust investigations; more anti-trust investigations; see to it that extent monopolies contributed to the energy crisis; the use of more tax money to aid mass transit; revision of utility rates to reward lower users, not high users as is presently the case; and the change in any government regulations, particularly those of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which tend to force higher energy consumption.

The energy crisis came about, Mrs. Zewel believes, because of poor government planning, and the set up of the energy industry itself. The nation itself is also partly to blame. "We are energy gluttons," said Mrs. Zewel.

She also gave information on the computerized check-out system in the supermarket industry; According to this any supermarket that did this system, items would have coding that would be read by a scanner at the checkout point, with the prices tallied by a central computer.

Mrs. Zewel said this had advantages for the consumer, as long as the items were marked as to price as well as containing the code. She said supermarkets were proposing to eliminate the price marking in the interest of cutting down their labor costs, and she said they should be boycotted.

Riverkeeper Scores Pollution

ANNANDALE-ON-HUDSON — A very strong wetlands bill, Thomas Whyatt, Hudson Riverkeeper, advises the use of problems he has encountered in public opinion as an effective tool on the local level to keep the ecology of the Hudson in the lordly estuary and its tributaries free from pollution. He recounted being restricted from taking pictures at St. Bard College Wednesday night by security guards, as he was canoeing in the river near an effluent discharge area. Whyatt said that the plant had discharged 400,000 pounds of week of fermented molasses into the river as recently as 1971. And he said he "went back in my canoe to get an effluent sample" after the encounter, finding it in good shape. Not usually involved in such dramatic undertakings, he said much of his time is spent attempting to get river communities to deal with pollution offenses, and in encouraging research to treat the river as a functional unit. He said that at the county level he has found departments of health usually cooperative in sewage disposal problems, and cited the recent closing of Rhinebeck restaurant for one or lost when tankers disconnect their hoses at tank farms. Whyatt pointed out some of the problems he has encountered in his recent efforts to preserve the ecology of the Hudson in dealing with major polluters. He recounted being restricted from taking pictures at St. Bard College Wednesday night by security guards, as he was canoeing in the river near an effluent discharge area. Whyatt said that the plant had discharged 400,000 pounds of week of fermented molasses into the river as recently as 1971. He said that at the county level he has found departments of health usually cooperative in sewage disposal problems, and cited the recent closing of Rhinebeck restaurant for one or lost when tankers disconnect their hoses at tank farms. Whyatt said that impact state-ment, required when the Environmental Protection Agency becomes involved in a procedure, are "not always effective." "They can be half-hearted and say nothing about major problems," he said, or they can be ignored "as in the case of the Alaskan pipeline." Whyatt made mention of an Ulster County problem in the Town of Marlboro where New York Trap Rock is taking a small mountain down to make aggregate. He explained the difficulty as twofold, as excessive silt upsets the river's ecology and as the huge scar on the landscape is aesthetically displeasing to many residents of New Hamburg across the river, who have voiced their displeasure. Winthrop Aldrich of Barrytown used the occasion to apprise Whyatt of the "plans" of Central Hudson to possibly construct a power plant in the Town of Ulster at the former Terry Brickyard site.

'Real' Summonses Loom in Rosendale

ROSENDALE — Tickets issued by village police for violations of Rosendale's overnight parking ordinance during November are "courtesy" tickets, but beginning Dec. 1 they will be the real thing. Mayor Robert Sheehan said at Wednesday night's village board meeting that police would begin issuing "for real" summonses Dec. 1 to those who park on village streets. The village's snow removal ordinance bans overnight parking between Nov. 1 and May 1. Several persons at the meeting said they lived in apartments and that they had no other place to park. Sheehan said he sympathized with their plight, but could offer no solution, since streets must be kept clear for village crews during snow months. Sheehan also served notice that tickets would be issued to those parking illegally in such off-street places as the post office and fire department parking lots. Sheehan said he felt a story about the village's flood control project carried in Monday's edition of the Freeman gave undue credit to Trustee Barbara DeStefano and that this was unfair, since both he and Trustee Harriet Mulligan had also worked toward improving conditions. The story in question revealed the contents of a letter from Russell Wege, a senior hydraulic engineer with the Department of Conservation, to Mrs. DeStefano, chairman of the board's Flood Control Project committee. In it Wege spoke of "appreciable maintenance progress" in the flood control project since a previous inspection in May, 1973. Mrs. DeStefano was quoted as crediting Lloyd Jones, the village's highway and sanitation engineer, with performing much of the necessary work. Following a lengthy discussion, the board unanimously rejected a proposal by the Women's Club of Rosendale that the village light up the Christmas tree at the intersection of Route 32 and Route 213 for two hours nightly during Christmas week. Sheehan said he felt the village should set a good example for its citizens in conserving energy, and called on village residents to curtail outdoor lighting wherever possible and to take all other measures necessary to reduce power consumption. Sheehan revealed that the village's new garbage compactor had been delivered Friday. Pickup of garbage will continue on normal scheduled days, but village crews will pick up heavy articles such as discarded household appliances and other odds and ends on the last Wednesday of each month. Articles must be put at the curb to be picked up. Sheehan also announced that delivery is expected on the village's new police car within a four weeks.

Nader at New Paltz

NEW PALTZ — Ralph Nader, the crusading lawyer who has tackled the automobile and many other industries on behalf of consumers, will speak on the campus of the State University College at New Paltz Tuesday, Dec. 4 at 8 p.m. in Room 100 of the Lecture Center. Admission will be charged according to the College Activities Office. Nader's appearance is sponsored by the Lecture Committee of the Student Government Association. Nader is known as the foremost critic of the private and public institutions that affect citizens' lives. He first made headlines in 1965 with his book "Unsafe at Any Speed," which attacked the auto industry for its neglect of safety. Since then he has been responsible for at least six major laws on consumer protection, for the elimination of monosodium glutamate from baby foods, for the recall of millions of defective motor vehicles and for numerous other advances in the areas of safety, sanitation, pollution control and truth in advertising. Time magazine has said of him, "Ralph Nader has shown that in an increasingly computerized, complex and impersonal society, one persistent man can actually do something about the forces that often seem to badger him — that he can indeed even shake and change big business, big labor and even bigger government."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 29, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has made a strong pitch to federal agencies to hold their conferences at the seaside Western White House in an apparent effort to throw an official cloak around his San Clemente extravaganzas. The flight of hundreds of bureaucrats to San Clemente, of course, will add to the fuel drain and the taxpayers' bills. But it will be easier for the President to justify the millions he has poured into the San Clemente complex if he can show that government agencies are utilizing the facilities.

The President not only has sent out special invitations to several agencies to make use of the Western White House, but he has included a brochure of all the available attractions.

This alluring booklet, with the title "The Western White House" printed on a fern green cover page, touts the conference facilities at the Coast Guard station next to the presidential compound.

FUN AND GAMES

But the emphasis is on the recreation that the officials can enjoy when they're not tied up on official business. The booklet boasts that fishing, swimming, golf, bowling, bull fights, jai-alai and many more leisure activities await them at San Clemente.

Visits to Disneyland, a fruit orchard and the world's biggest telescope are also offered. "Casual dress is the rule in San Clemente," adds the White House booklet. "Short sleeve shirts, slacks or shorts for men — light cottons for women" are prescribed for what the booklet promises is "the world's all-year-around finest" weather.

The presidential invitations were issued earlier this year at a time when Nixon was on the skillets for using the taxpayers' money to purchase luxury items for the San Clemente compound.

The word that the Western White House was available for conferences was passed to the agencies by his military aide, Brig. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, who recently was given another star and promoted to White House national security deputy.

OFFER RENEWED

"The President has asked me," wrote the general, "to renew his offer of the facilities of the Western White House for the use of government and certain other groups.

"The area offers generally pleasant weather in a secluded, informal setting... The 10 fully-equipped offices, conference room, private beach and bath house, helipad and excellent communications system provide ideal conference accommodations for up to 40 persons," he urged.

Several government agencies have jumped at the opportunity to hold their meetings in balmy San Clemente. Among them are the Justice Department, Federal Aviation Administration, General Services Administration and the Labor Department.

So far this year, 38 government and civic organizations have accepted the President's appealing invitation. Another 79 did so in 1972.

FAA CONFERENCE

The FAA's top brass was planning a conference at San Clemente for early December, even as the President was ordering fuel savings. Almost half of the 29 participants will wing across country from Washington.

A spokesman explained that the "focus will be on general aviation, a vital conference, and the costs about equalize out. Often we can get more work done outside Washington."

At the White House, General Scowcroft said his predecessor had sent out a similar invitation before all the hoopla over the President's San Clemente spending. The purpose of his own memo, Scowcroft said, was purely "to tell them there were those facilities available." He denied "100 per cent" that it was to justify the President's spending.

HOSPITAL COSTS: In March 1972, the board chairman of Hospital Supply Corporation delivered $250,000 to President Nixon's campaign.

The bighearted chairman, Jack Massey, assured us he asked nothing in return. But all of a sudden, the government started taking actions which brought higher profits for Hospital Supply and higher medical costs for the sick.

Not long after Massey handed over the money, for example, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare ruled that hospitals receiving federal Hill-Burton money could spend some of it on private hospital management. Hospital Supply happens to dominate this facet of the health industry.

Still later, John Hill, a Hospital Supply vice president, was named to the Health Advisory Committee, which advises the Cost of Living Council. The council recently announced it would allow hospital bills to rise an average of nine per cent a year.

Curious Coincidence: Sources close to Dr. Tom Frist Jr., another Hospital Supply vice president, told us he had been bragging earlier that the $250,000 contribution would be rewarded, among other things, with an influential seat on the Cost of Living Council.

Frist didn't specifically deny he had made the statement, but he told his associate Jack Cloberty that Hill was qualified for the post and that the appointment wasn't necessarily linked to any contribution. Hill was in Lisbon, Portugal, and couldn't be reached for comment.

San Clemente Conference Lure

Perpetual Motion?

On the Right

Big Brother Watches

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

It is most often objected to a rise in the price of gasoline and fuel oil that it "favors the rich." This is like saying that wealth favors the rich, which is indisputably true. The millionaire, in order to avoid the cold weather, can fly to Rio de Janeiro. It must be driven home, and driven home again, that the proper way to cope with shortages that are inconvenient in character, as distinguished from physical shortages that justify subsistence rationing, is through the price mechanism. It is demagogic and superficial to conclude that this is the course of action that "favors" the rich. The rich, as I have suggested, can look after themselves. They will always be able to get the gas they need by very simply buying it at whatever price the black market commands.

Consider President Nixon's two most conspicuous proposals designed to lower the consumption of gasoline. We are all supposed to drive at speeds of 50 miles per hour or less. Now the public tends to think of that as perfectly reasonable. When a categorical proposal is made, the human tendency is to try it out on oneself, and if the proposed inconvenience is not inordinate, then the suggestion is not unacceptable. But there are people in the United States for whom the difference between driving 70 mph and 50 mph is the difference between getting home at night — a major personal objective — and not getting home.

In 1942, Governor Coke Stevenson announced calmly that the sovereign state of Texas would not abide by the most recent ukase of President Roosevelt that in order to save tires and rubber, no one could drive faster than 35 mph. "Why won't you go along," a young man asked him. "Because, son, in Texas if you drive 35 miles per hour, you don't ever arrive."

Mr. Nixon wants legislation forcing the gas stations to close between 9 p.m. Saturday and midnight Sunday. It happens I could not myself care less, owning as I do a weekend car that fetches me 30 miles to the gallon which over the four years I have owned it, has logged a grand total of 14,000 miles. But what about the family that plans, during its vacation, to take the children and visit Yellowstone Park, why should they not be permitted to decide that they will splurge on that particular trip? Are they supposed to camp down at a local motel on Sunday morning, waiting for the gas stations to reopen? They talk of going further, to carless Sundays. What about those who take their simple pleasure in a Sunday afternoon drive?

It is revealing that the only problem that apparently deters the bureaucratic mind from ordaining that which people may and may not do in all matters is the practical problem. Mr. Nixon tells us we should keep the heat in our houses down to 68. If not... it not, what? Why, if not, you will run out towards the end of the winter. Well, the lady who needs, or desires, a hot room for perfectly private neurotic or metabolic reasons, or perhaps continue to heat her house to 73 degrees, and when she runs out of fuel, will stay the balance of the winter with her daughter — surely that is for her to work out?

Clearly, if it were practical, the White House would order all thermostats set to 68, even as it is prepared to order all motorists to stop at 50 mph. It is only the mechanical problem that stops them from putting governors in our cars, our houses — and our lives.

We're to have no ornamental lighting. Why don't they tell us that, at the restaurants, we cannot order well-done steak. I can hear it now... "If you order your hamburgers rare, that will save 125,000 barrels of fuel per day, or enough to heat 600,000 homes." It happens that little lights don't use very much fuel, and that Christmas lights are the source of great spiritual and aesthetic joy for some people, as for some onlookers. Are we really going to call the policeman to douse the lighted cross outside the family farm in Vermont?

But, you say — there isn't enough to go around. Right, and there aren't enough steaks to go around. So the price of steak goes up, and people eat less of it. But by God if you want to eat a huge steak at four o'clock on Sunday morning, and that's how you want to spend that extra five dollars, Big Brother hasn't yet told you you can't do it. Perhaps it's because it hasn't occurred to him.

Washington Calling

Half Measures Aren't Enough

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — Behind all the fine words in the President's energy message about sacrifice and independence one thing is abundantly clear. The average citizen is going to pay the cost of the fuel shortage in money, in time spent searching out scarce fuels, in disruption of familiar ways of life.

Not one word in the message was devoted to price. Without some brake, as gasoline and heating oil grow scarcer, the price will rise. Predictions already have it go to 50 cents early in the coming year.

Profits of the oil giants, already swollen, will rise. The cynical see in the furor over the energy crisis a deep-laid plot of Big Oil to cash in on alleged scarcities. Restriction of petroleum imports has long been a successful device by the biggies to limit supply and thereby sustain demand and price.

With no limit on price the cost of regular is certain to go above 50 cents, with the likelihood it will be 75 cents or a dollar before the end of 1974. In much of what the President said is the implication that driving is a kind of luxury that can be curbed with no real hardship on anyone.

While a lot of cruising about is superfluous in a nation that has rapidly lost the use of leg power, getting from job to home over long distances, with little or no public transportation, is a dire necessity. Rising costs in getting to the job and back again will have to be met with higher wages, and upward goes the spiral of inflation.

Granted, rationing in peacetime would be a formidable undertaking. As the President has noted, it was difficult enough during World War II when patriotism was a strong incentive. But in the opinion of this observer rationing will have to be imposed within three to six months as the inequities of the Nixon do-it-yourself approach bring a breakdown of the distribution system and hardships to millions.

Nor was there anything in the President's message about the great differences between geographical regions. With New England at the end of the heating fuel line, it will be grossly unfair to let that region freeze with the limited allocations that can be worked out of the big oil suppliers. Louisiana, running over with oil and natural gas, is proposing measures to restrict the movement of fuels outside the state's borders.

The allocation of jet fuel for aviation as proposed in the President's message will work a hardship on those who must travel by air. With the number of flights limited by a 15 per cent cut, effective Jan. 7, planes will be more crowded and airport delays more exasperating.

The Civil Aeronautics Board has just granted the airlines a five per cent fare increase as of Dec. 1. This is for increased costs in general, and the expectation is that the rising cost of fuel will mean another fare increase in the new year. Whether increased loads will mean airline profits is questionable, since expensive planes grounded by the President's order will have to be amortized even though they are not in use. And the cutback will contribute to unemployment.

On rationing the President generalizes from the particular of his own experience in the Office of Price Administration before he entered the Navy in World War II. OPA was a swollen bureaucracy. Of course, there was cheating. But within limits it worked, and there was the sense of a burden shared in common.

With a little imagination a system of rationing might be devised less far reaching than that of the war. One problem is the divided counsel within the President's own official family. Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz is against all controls and he fumes in private over the restraints such as they are in Phase 3. He hears from afar the stern voice of his mentor, Prof. Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago, the apostle of free and untrammelled enterprise.

It may be shrewd strategy to try the half-measures proposed in the President's message. When they fall short, as they are certain to do, he can take the inevitable step of rationing. But time is running out and the interval can be all too costly.

Arab Summit Conference... Peace With Israel Endorsed

ALGIERS (AP) — For the first time in the 25 years of Arab-Israeli warfare, a summit conference of Arab leaders has endorsed the concept of a permanent peace settlement with Israel.

The endorsement at the meeting that ended here Wednesday was tacit rather than explicit, and Secretary-General Mahmoud Riad of the Arab League said no resolutions were passed on the subject.

But the acceptance of the idea of peace — and therefore of the permanent existence of Israel — marked what President Houari Boumedienne of Algeria called "a major turning point in the history of the Arab peoples."

It was a far cry from the Arab summit in Khartoum after the 1967 six-day war, when the Arabs proclaimed their own power." Boumedienne said.

All memory of the Khartoum slogan was swept away and the word "peace" became respectable among all but the most unconditional extremists.

President Anwar Sadat of Egypt was hailed as the victor of the October war, and his formal speeches were militant.

But in private meetings with the other leaders, he left no doubt that he plans to negotiate a peace settlement as quickly as possible consistent with Egypt's national interests and on the best terms he can get.

Informants said the Arab leaders in effect ratified Sadat's position with a minimum of discussion.

Only Iraq and Libya were out of step, marking their disapproval of peace with Israel by boycotting the summit. It was a measure of the transformation in Arab attitudes since the October war that the absence of the two militant regimes was hardly noticed.

In another development at the meeting, King Faisal of Saudi Arabia failed in his impassioned, religiously inspired demand that Arab Jerusalem, Arab areas, occupied by Israel since 1967, must revert to the Arabs.

The conference's final declaration demanded "the evacuation by Israel of all occupied Arab territories, particularly of Jerusalem." But informants familiar with the backstage discussions pointed out that the wording did not exclude the internationalization or neutralization of Jerusalem and other losing face.

In a major compromise, the summit acknowledged Yasir Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization as the "only representative" of the Palestinian people, and Arafat refrained from proclaiming an exile government that would challenge Jordan's claim to sovereignty over Arab Palestine. The agreement could bring both Arafat and Jordan's King Hussein to the peace talks without

Drama of Skyjacked Dutch Jetliner Ends

BEIRUT (UPI) — Three day, but the origins and identities of the three young men remained as mysterious as when they commandeered the hijacked Dutch jumbo jet and quietly ended a three-day dramatic trip across the Middle East, Africa and the Mediterranean.

Airport officials drove them away from the towering blue and white KLM plane Wednesday.

The rulers of the tiny oil-rich Persian Gulf state guaranteed the gunmen safe conduct to wherever they wanted to go and ordered "all officials to treat them well."

Following the hijackers' walk the last 11 hostages—10 weary crew members and KLM Vice President A. W. Withholt. The gunmen said they were members of the "Arab Nation Liberation of Palestine." The group was condemned, however, by all Arab states and all recognized Palestinian guerrilla organizations.

The hijackers said they seized the plane to protest Dutch support of Israel. They extracted a promise from Holland to bar any transit camps on Dutch territory for Jews emigrating to Israel. The Dutch government, however, insisted it was not a change of policy.

The drama began Sunday when the KLM jet left Beirut on a scheduled flight to New Delhi, Bangkok and Tokyo, carrying 250 passengers and 18 crew members.

The gunmen, armed with pistols and hand grenades, forced the pilot — Capt. I. L. Risseuw, 55—to fly over Iraq before landing at Damascus, Syria.

After hours on the ground in Syria, the giant jet began a wandering flight that took it to Lebanon, Syria, Iraq, Bahrain, Kuwait, Libya, Malta, Dubai, Kuwait and Qatar all closed their air space to the plane. Only Dubai allowed it to land when the pilot said he was running short of fuel.

The plane left Malta and flew back to the Middle East. The hijackers allowed the passengers and eight stewardesses to leave the plane on emergency chutes in threats to take off again, the return for Withholt as a three weary men quietly stepped from the plane.

Store Fire Kills 66 in Japan

TOKYO (UPI) — A fire destroyed a crowded department store in southern Japan today, killing dozens of persons in the flash flames and thick, suffocating smoke.

Police said at least 66 persons died and 78 others were injured. Authorities said they expected the toll to rise even higher as rescue workers sifted through the rubble of the burned-out building.

The eight-story Taiyo department store, which normally closes on Thursdays, opened today for a special Christmas sale and was packed with bargain-hunters.

Police said most of the victims at the store, in the heart of Kumamoto City on the southern Japanese island of Kyushu, were women shoppers.

The fire erupted on the third story of the building and quickly flashed through other floors, leaving some staircases burned out.

Some shoppers escaped to the roof as the thick smoke billowed into the downtown area while others ran weeping into the street. Women with babies lashed to their backs slid down ropes to escape the intense heat.

Helmeted firemen atop huge aerial ladders fought through the flames and smoke to rescue the persons who took refuge on the roof.

An exhausted woman, who was carried down a fire truck ladder from the burning store, said, "I was at the restaurant on the seventh floor when the smoke suddenly broke into the restaurant. I ran down the stairs until I was rescued by the fireman."

Firemen said it appeared many of the dead suffered smoke poisoning rather than burns.

They poured a powerful stream of water into the remnants of the building hours after the blaze first broke out to fight stubborn pockets of fire. Ruined merchandise lay heaped on the bottom floors in huge pools of water.

Barricades On Streets In Belfast

BELFAST (UPI) — The outlawed Irish Republican Army barricaded streets inside Belfast today, adding to a dozen highways still closed by an IRA road blocking operation across Northern Ireland.

Police said IRA extremists opposed to plans for a coalition government hijacked two buses and four trucks in the capital Wednesday night and used the vehicles to block Belfast streets.

The authorities said the Belfast hijackings forced officials to halt bus service in the city's Roman Catholic areas.

The Roman Catholic IRA threw up the Belfast barricades 24 hours after hijacking hundreds of vehicles and blocking 91 roads across the province Tuesday.

Troops had cleared all but a dozen of the roadblocks outside Belfast by early today and were working on eliminating the rest. Explosives experts, protected by ground patrols and helicopters, tried to defuse bombs inside some of the vehicles.

A British army spokesman said a half-dozen bombs were defused Wednesday, but most of the barricades were not boobytrapped.

Bomb experts blew up a hijacked bus on a Belfast street Wednesday night because they feared there was a bomb inside.

There were no further casualties reported by early today. Three men died in the initial hours of the barricade drive.

A British army spokesman said the roadblock operation showed the weakness of the IRA, but then conceded, "This is extremely difficult to combat."

Greece Promised Free Balloting

ATHENS (UPI) — The new military-backed regime, which came to power to head off next year's scheduled elections, has promised to go along with free balloting in Greece "when the country is ready."

Premier Adamantios Androussopoulos said Wednesday night the new government was in favor of an eventual return to democracy, but would not be bound by any timetable.

"When the country is ready, it will be led to elections," the premier said in a 53-minute radio and television address. "We do not intend the establishment of a regime. Our ambition is to prepare the country for the undisturbed and purely democratic life."

The military leaders who picked the American-educated economist as premier strongly stacked the planned 1974 elections after coming to power last Sunday in a coup against toppled President George Papadopoulos.

The coup leaders called the vote "an electoral fake" and said Papadopoulos "with a parody of elections was trying to fool the Greek people—this forced the army to intervene and to save the country once more."

Police Seek Daughter of Dead Playwright

MIAMI (AP) — A second degree murder warrant has been issued for the daughter of playwright Mary McDougal Axelson.

Police say Mrs. Axelson, 82, died Tuesday of a brain hemorrhage caused by a beating she suffered while in her hospital bed Monday.

The murder warrant issued Wednesday names Mary Axelson Cropper, 44, of New York City.

Police said Mrs. Cropper visited the hospital shortly before a nurse heard Mrs. Axelson crying for help. The nurse discovered Mrs. Axelson bleeding from the mouth.

Mrs. Axelson wrote the Broadway play "Life Begins," later made into a film starring Loretta Young. Her first novel, "A Child Is Born," was published in 1940.

Funeral services for Mrs. Axelson, who was admitted to the hospital suffering from leukemia, are scheduled Friday.

Fund Pledges In for Library

CLINTON CORNERS — Pledges have already been received for as much as $3,000 toward the building fund of the new Clinton Community Library, according to Mrs. Harrington Putnam.

Plans are proceeding for an April groundbreaking for the addition to the Clinton Town Hall to house the library, and an estimated $30,000 will be needed.

Discussion Set Tonight

A meeting to discuss organization of an ostomy association will be held at the Nurses' Residence of Kingston Hospital tonight beginning at 7:30 p.m. Purpose of the organization is to compile, publish and disseminate information for the rehabilitation of persons who have undergone colostomy, ileostomy, or urinary diversion and to offer mutual aid, moral support and exchange of information for ostomy patients so they may return to a normal and productive life.

Doctors, nurses and other hospital personnel, social service workers, and all others interested in the rehabilitation of ostomates are asked to contact ostomy patients in their area and urge them to attend the meeting.

The "library" is presently housed in a loft above the town offices, with very limited space and accessibility. With the institution of a new library program, the fund-raising committee would like to expand the scope of the library's offerings to the community.

Plans are proceeding for an April groundbreaking for the addition to the Clinton Town Hall to house the library, and an estimated $30,000 will be needed.

The architectural plans for the addition were drawn up by students from Dutchess Community College this past fall with help from advising faculty. The library board selected plans in keeping with its needs.

Union College Cancels Some Jan. Classes

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—In an attempt to save fuel, Union College announced Wednesday it will cancel its first two weeks of classes in January.

A school spokesman said it was hoped the closing would provide the college with enough fuel to last the remainder of the academic year.

Union will close for Christmas vacation Dec. 7, as scheduled, but will postpone reopening for the winter term from Jan. 7 to Jan. 21, the spokesman said.

Union anticipates a 25 percent reduction in its supply of heating oil this winter.

Athletic contests, for wrestling, swimming and freshman basketball teams will be postponed until after Jan. 21, or cancelled, the spokesman said.

The varsity basketball team, which has three road games but no home games during the six-week period, will play its contests as scheduled.

The spokesman said the delay would not lengthen the academic year which will end June 6 as scheduled, but the college is considering Saturday classes and extending class periods and the class day among other options.

During the six-week layoff, Union will close dormitories and most other buildings on campus, reducing heat to the lowest thermostat setting, 55 degrees, he said.

The college's graduate and evening programs will not be affected.

Mrs. Anna C. Davis, 79, of 20 Park Place, Cobleskill, formerly of 4 Peter Street, Kingston, died in Cobleskill Tuesday. Born in Kingston she was the daughter of the late Christopher and Catherine Fischer Ortleb. She was a member of the Senior Citizens Club and St. Vincent De Paul Society of Cobleskill. Her husband, Harry J. Davis died in June, 1958. Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Viola Dulin of Wilmington, Del., Mrs. Allen (Rita) Whitney of Saugerties and Mrs. Jacobus P. (Janet) Vrolijk of Cobleskill; a sister, Mrs. Lewis (Ada) Ostrander of Kingston; a brother, Arthur Ortleb of West Hurley; six grandchildren and several nieces and nephews. Funeral will be held from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home Inc., 411 Albany Avenue, Saturday 9:15 a.m. thence to St. Peter's Church where at 10 a.m. a Mass of the Resurrection will be sung. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery. Friends may call Friday 7 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Amelia M. Coddington of Francis Place, Tillson, died suddenly in Kingston Wednesday evening. She was born in Yonkers a daughter of Mrs. Mary Gravelski Kostezko and the late Nicholas Kostezko. Mrs. Coddington had resided in Tillson for the past 26 years. Her husband, Monroe Coddington, died February 28, 1963 and a son, Richard Coddington, was fatally injured in an accident on Route 32 September 4, 1972. Surviving are a son, John Coddington of Tillson; two daughters, Mrs. Earl (Patricia) Brown, Tillson; Mrs. Roger (Shirley) McCrory.

Funeral will be held from the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main Street, Rosendale, Saturday at 9:30. Thence to St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, at 10 a.m. where a Mass of the Resurrection will be offered. Interment in St. Peter's Cemetery, Rosendale. Friends may call Thursday 7 to 9 p.m. and Friday 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Cottkill Road Work Continues

Repair work on Cottkill Road between Route 209 and Ulster County Community College continued today and no word has been received as yet as to when it will be reopened to all traffic.

Meanwhile students and faculty at UCCC are being asked to use the Lucas Avenue entrance to Cottkill Road to reach the campus. Only emergency vehicles are presently able to use the section of roadway now under repair.

The work is being done in order to alleviate icy conditions that have existed on portions of the road in past winters.

St. Remy Election

The annual election for fire commissioners of the St. Remy Fire District will be held at the firehall Dec. 11 with polls open from 7 to 10 p.m. Terms are for five years. All candidates must be resident electors of the St. Remy Fire District. Nominations for commissioner must be in writing and received by the secretary not later than Dec. 1 to be printed on the ballots. All voters must be residents of the fire district and a registered voter of the Town of Esopus.

The gift-giving plan with the extra give.

Not just an ordinary savings plan for Christmas or Chanukah, but the Heritage Club. Where you get a delightful gift for yourself for renewing your present account or opening a new one.

And complete flexibility. You can deposit any amount you wish in multiples of $1.00. So if you sign up for weekly deposits of $5.00, but sometimes can't deposit more than $3.00, you're never penalized.

What's more, the Heritage Club takes away the red tape. You get your own permanent Christmas or Chanukah passbook so you can renew your account, automatically, year after year. No time-consuming forms to fill out.

And you get the highest interest allowed by law, 5.25% from day of deposit as long as your balance reaches $25 by the end of the savings plan.

The Heritage Club — just another way we provide for your future.

If you join the 1974 Heritage Club now, you can choose from one of three gifts:

1. "Ham on a Nest" two-piece, milk glass candy dish
2. TV Breakfast tray
3. Jamaican rum cake from Red Mill Farms

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market opened higher today, continuing Wednesday's upswing.

Advances led declines by 3 to 2 on the New York Stock Exchange, and the Dow Jones industrial average was up a fraction.

Opening NYSE prices included Sunbeam, off 1/2 to 19; Walt Disney, down 1 1/2 to 44 1/2; Upjohn, off 1/2 to 87 1/2; Penn Central, up 1/2 to 4; and Gulf, off to 21 1/2.

On Wednesday, the market rallied, with the Dow Jones industrial average climbing 22.05 to 839.78.

Brokers said the upswing was largely technical, coming on the heels of an approximately 170-point fall in the Dow in the previous month.

They pointed out that the rally was fueled by no special news development, and that most investors still remained deeply concerned over the oil shortage and its economic implications.

Many said they expected the market to continue its decline in the near term.

Police Feel One Responsible for Rochester Slayings

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—and her body dumped alongside a road in the Wayne County suburban Chili, west of the city. Detective Lt. Anthony Fantigrossi, said she was fully clothed when found. A silver body, they said. Fantigrossi said Michelle's slaying was "an exact duplicate" of Wanda's, adding, "The man responsible for Wanda is responsible for this."

Elizabeth Taylor Doing Beautifully

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor was reported "doing beautifully" today following two hours of surgery Wednesday. A cyst was removed from her right ovary and an "abnormal intestinal formation" was fixed.

"She looks fine, and she's a little drowsy but she seems to feel fine," said a spokesman for the 41-year-old actress after surgery at UCLA Medical Center.

Standing by during the operation were actor Peter Lawford, an old friend, and Los Angeles car dealer Henry Wynberg, who has been squirreling Miss Taylor around Europe and Los Angeles in recent months, since she decided to divorce Richard Burton, her fifth husband.

Accompanied by Lawford, she ducked out of the hospital Tuesday night, after pre-surgical tests, to attend a memorial service for another old friend, actor Laurence

Guilty Plea Is Entered

KINGSTON — A plea of guilty to burglary in the third degree and criminal mischief in the second degree was entered in Ulster County Court Wednesday by Peter R. Sorenson of Shady who was accused of allegedly breaking into the residence of George Mayer of Shady, Sept. 11, 1972 and causing damage to the property in excess of $8,000.

Sorenson, and an accomplice, Benson Lapo who previously pleaded guilty to burglary, third degree, in connection with the incident on Hutch Hill Road, Shady, are alleged to have driven a tractor into a pool, removed 73 household and other items and caused considerable damage to the home and its furnishings, according to District Attorney Investigator Thomas Mayone. They were arrested Sept. 27, 1972.

Sorenson is eligible for up to seven years in prison on each charge. County Judge Raymond J. Mino will set a date for a pre-sentence conference. Lapo's conference has been set for Jan. 9.

District Attorney Francis J. Vogt represented the People.

Douglas Hits Aspect of Energy Crisis

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A U.S. Supreme Court justice said Wednesday that the most fearful aspect of the energy crisis was the specter of a "presidential war" against an oil-producing nation.

And Justice William O. Douglas told Albany State law students that "the crisis of today is going to get worse over the years."

The senior justice on the nation's high court said big business was to blame for the energy crisis. He said fuel shortages were due in part to the "promotion of selfish interests" of the fuel industry.

Ideas "hostile to the wishes" of the fuel industry largely have gone ignored, Douglas said.

Douglas also called for the end of construction of nuclear power plants because of what he said was the impossibility of disposing radioactive waste.

"It is the opinion of some knowledgeable people I know that it is time to call a halt to this nuclear business," he said. "The germ plasm of man is in peril."

Patrolman Hurt In Ellenville

ELLENVILLE — Ellenville Patrolman Joseph Mantone of Ulster Heights was injured Wednesday night when a car he attempted to wave down on Center Street, hit him, knocking him to the pavement. Mantone sustained head and hip injuries and is a patient in Ellenville Community Hospital.

The accident took place at 8:10 p.m. when the car driven by Robert E. Damms of Greenfield Park was traveling east on Center Street. Damms reportedly did not see the pedestrian, Mantone.

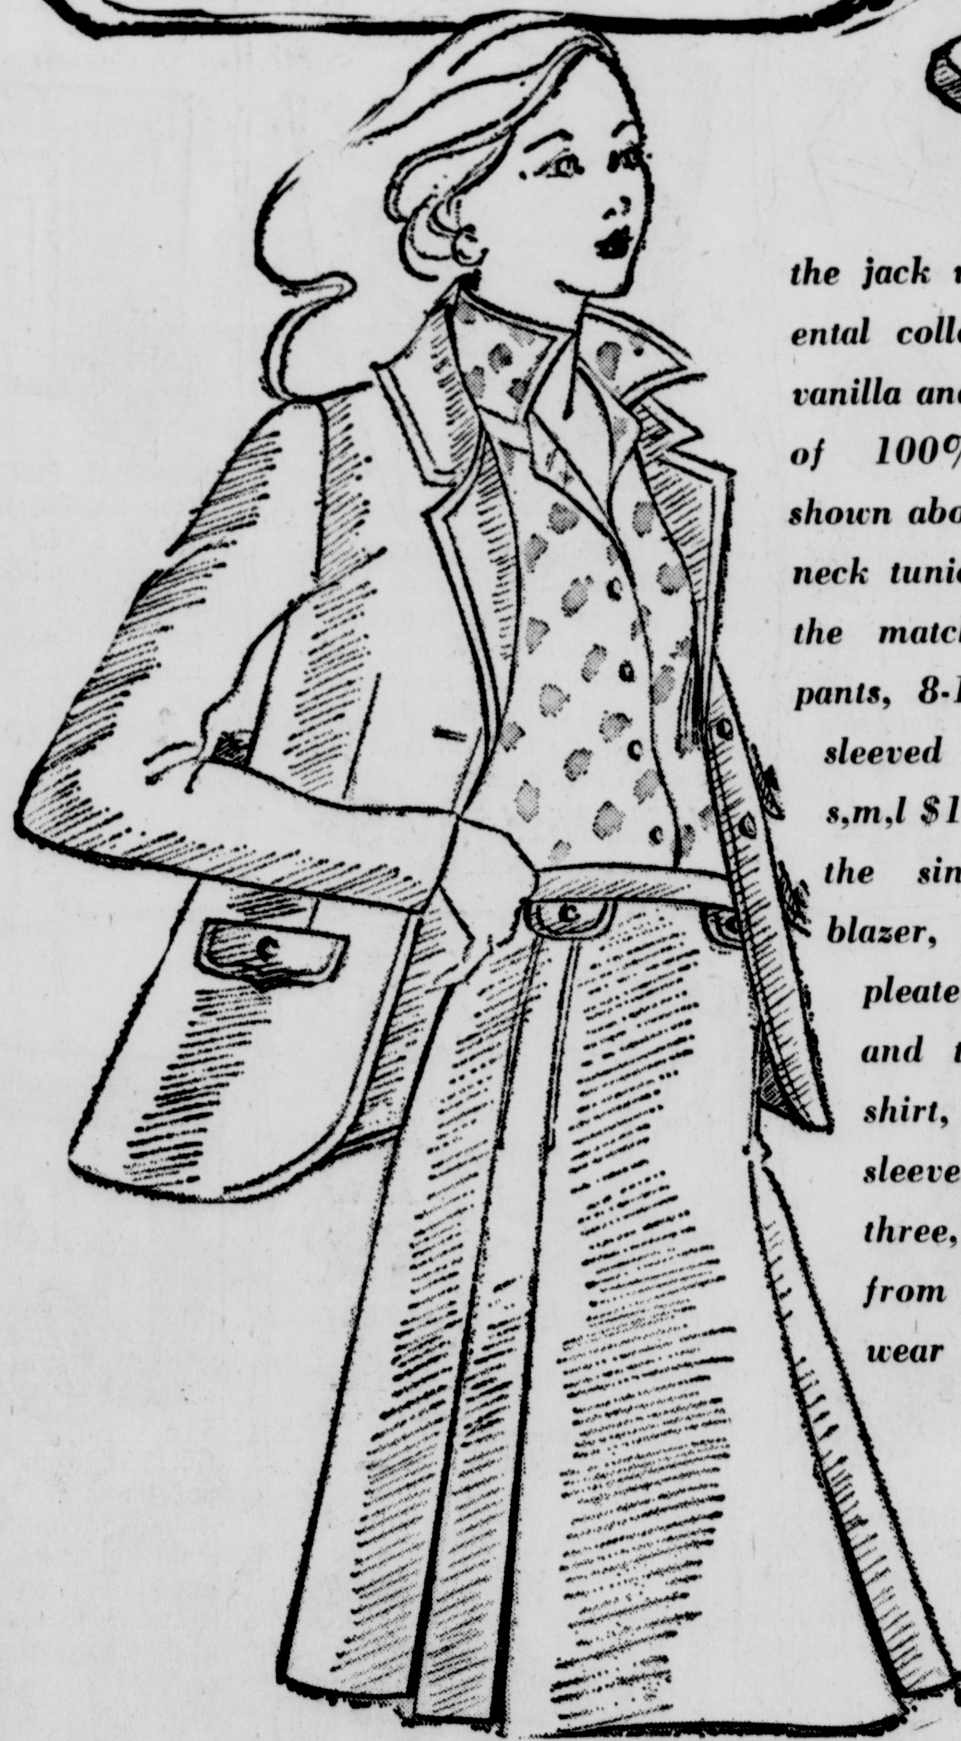

No arrest has been made and further details are not available at this time.

Eisenhower's Letter to Gen. Marshall May Still Exist

WASHINGTON (AP) — A letter that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower reportedly wrote years ago to Gen. George C. Marshall seeking advice on a possible divorce from his wife Mamie may still exist, claims a former aide to the late President Harry S. Truman.

Retired Army Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, who was Truman's top White House military adviser, said that Truman sent the letter to Marshall for Marshall's private files and to keep it out of the hands of Eisenhower's political opponents.

Vaughan denied a published account that Truman had destroyed both Eisenhower's letter and Marshall's reply.

Eisenhower, who at the time was World War II supreme allied commander, reportedly informed Marshall that he was considering divorcing Mamie to marry Kay Summersby, a British woman assigned to drive him around London during the war.

Gen. Eisenhower asked Gen. Marshall if he thought a divorce would hurt his military career," said Vaughan Monday in an interview. "Marshall told him it certainly would, and would be a very stupid thing to do."

Marshall at the time was Army chief of staff. He later became secretary of state. According to Vaughan, the Eisenhower Marshall letters would up in Pentagon files, Marshall died in 1959.

Vaughan said when Eisenhower was running for the presidency in 1952, rumors of the letters leaked out. He said those supporting Sen. Robert A. Taft, Eisenhower's opponent for the GOP nomination, "wanted to get hold of the letters and have them published."

Vaughan said Truman, who was then president, interceded and returned the letters to Marshall. Vaughan said he could personally confirm that the letters existed because "I saw them."

The letters, said Vaughan, probably still exist among Marshall's other papers — possibly at the Marshall Research Library at the Virginia Military Institute in Lexington, Va.

The alleged exchange of letters was made public last week when newspapers published excerpts from "Plain Speaking," a new book about Truman by Merle Miller.

Retired Army Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, who was Truman's top White House military adviser, said that Truman sent the letter to Marshall for Marshall's private files and to keep it out of the hands of Eisenhower's political opponents.

Indian Educator Is Activist

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — An Indian activist and educator says his people's struggle for human and civil rights is just beginning.

The Indian is Lehman L. Brightman, 43, director of Native American Studies at California State University at Sacramento.

"What we're striving for is self determination — the right to run our own affairs and to determine our own destinies," Brightman said in an interview published recently.

Brightman, who speaks with an English accent, is a reservation-born Dakota Sioux who was educated at Oklahoma State University and the University of California at Berkeley. He became an activist after working as a youth counselor in San Francisco's Mission District.

He founded the United Native Americans, a militant Indian civil rights organization and publishes Warpath, the organization's newspaper which he said has a national distribution of 10,000.

"The Indian civil rights movement is not just taking over property, demonstrations, or militancy itself," Brightman said.

"It's finding jobs for Indians, getting them into universities and colleges on scholarships, and having Indian professors teaching the truth about our people. It's helping old people, and trying to get the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs to clean up its Indian boarding schools on reservations."

He said about half of the country's 800,000 Indians live on reservations.

Brightman said the BIA's activities on the reservations "probably is the purest form of colonialism you'll find in the United States. It's a classic situation because an outside force has come to run our educational, social, health and economic affairs."

He said the BIA has failed to meet the Indians' needs in both health and education.

Murderer Still Trusts His Attorney

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Convicted murderer Gerard Schaefer says he still trusts his public defender even though the attorney is planning to marry Schaefer's ex-wife.

Public defender Elton Schwarz, who lost his original defense of Schaefer, is now appealing his client's two concurrent life sentences.

Schwarz, 45, announced Monday that he and 22-year-old Teresa Schaefer will be married before the end of the year. Mrs. Schaefer was granted a divorce 45 minutes after filing for one last week.

Schaefer said from his jail cell that he didn't mind and still wants Schwarz to handle the appeal.

"To think that I would want somebody else to handle my case suggests I have lost faith in my counsel," Schaefer said in a letter to Schwarz. "I trust you."

"To me nothing has changed. You are still my friend. You both have my sincere blessings and prayers for happiness."

Schwarz recently confirmed that he had been dating Mrs. Schaefer since shortly after the jury trial ended this summer.

He said he became acquainted with her while working on Schaefer's defense, but he said the romance did not start until after his client's conviction. Mrs. Schaefer could not be reached for comment.

Schaefer, a 28-year-old ex-deputy sheriff, was charged in the deaths of Susan Place, 17, and Georgia Jessup, 16, both of the Fort Lauderdale area.

Egg Show Excellence Cited

Blue Ribbon for 3 Brothers

ULSTER PARK, Grace and Milton Tstisera, owners of 3 Brother Egg Farm on Route 9W in Ulster Park, have won a blue ribbon for excellence at the recent Egg Show sponsored by the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council in Hershey, Pa.

The Tstiseras were notified by Richard I. Ammon, NEPPC executive director, that their medium brown eggs had won the award with a score of 98.35, and that the firm's large brown eggs had been awarded an honorable mention with a score of 98.0.

"Since these eggs were selected at random in your packing room and judged by a state egg inspector, you can rightfully be proud of the high quality product you are providing your customers. Congratulations on winning."

North Dutchess Lumber Tie-In

RHINEBECK Scheffler Lumber Company of Red Hook will shortly become a part of Williams Lumber Company, with locations in Rhinebeck and Salt Point.

A Dec. 1 transfer has been arranged, according to Donald S. Williams, son of Stanley H. Williams, owner. The name Scheffler Lumber will be retained, and Jack Scheffler will continue management of the Red Hook yard.

Williams Lumber began in Rhinebeck 26 years ago at the location where the village hall-firehouse now stands. It moved to its present Route 9 location about five years ago.

Representatives in Each of 665 Stores

Grand Union Energy Task Force

EAST PATERSON, N.J., Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands. The Grand Union Company has established a 700-member energy and resource conservation task force, according to Charles G. Rodman, president of the nation's ninth largest food chain.

The task force, Rodman said, will have representatives in each of G-U's 665 stores, as well as in all company offices, distribution centers and manufacturing facilities in 12 states.

One initial goal of the chain is to cut the company's normal annual consumption of 650-million kilowatt hours of electricity by at least 10 per cent. G-U's normal electrical consumption each year is equal to that needed in 110,000 homes.

Following are the key steps in G-U's energy-saving program:

- A 17-point program for conserving heat, light and power, effective immediately, including a specific program for reducing all store and office lighting and heating.
- A 10-point program applied to store planning, maintenance and construction that ranges from enclosing loading docks at the rear of stores to conserve heat to installing 4-door entrances and exits at the front to save fuel and power and increasing the "thickness" of insulation at least 50 per cent on roof and ceiling tiles to conserve fuel.
- A 20-point program specifically covering warehousing and the operation of G-U's trucking fleet and company-owned cars. It ranges from establishment of employee car pools to reducing the number of warehouse-to-store deliveries where possible and purchasing only sub-compact cars for company use.

"From the standpoint of energy conservation we already run a very tight ship at Grand Union," a company spokesman said and added "what we have to do now, and will do, is improve on an excellent record."

G-U currently operates 536 supermarkets, 23 Grand Way general merchandise stores, 28 E-Z Shop convenience food stores, 60 Triple-S Blue Stamp redemption centers and 18 Grand Catalog showrooms, including several in the Kingston area.

Family Group To Form

NEW PALTZ

Descendants of Jan Everts Terwilliger will meet Dec. 8 at 1:30 p.m. at Deyo Hall, 6 Brodhead Avenue, New Paltz, to form a Terwilliger Family Association under the auspices of the Huguenot Historical Society, New Paltz.

The purpose of the organization is the purchase and preservation of the 1738 Evert Terwilliger homestead on Route 32, four miles south of New Paltz. This fine stone house, together with Locust Lawn, the 1814 Col. Josiah Hasbrouck mansion, recently were designated as a State Historic Landmark Site.

Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, president of the Huguenot Historical Society, reports that more than one half of the purchase price has already been pledged. However, it is the goal of the group that as many descendants of Jan Everts Terwilliger as possible should be involved in this family project.

A second purpose is the compilation and publication of a complete family history of the Terwilliger Family in America.

Hundreds of Terwilligers all over the country have already received information concerning the project. However, it is difficult to locate those who no longer bear the Terwilliger name. Married Terwilliger daughters and their descendants may write Terwilliger Family Association, P.O. Box 339, New Paltz, N.Y. 12561, and join in the program to provide a memorial to the part played by the Terwilliger family in the building of America.

LeFevre Unit Names New Head

NEW PALTZ

The LeFevre Family Association held its seventh annual luncheon and meeting recently on Huguenot Street in New Paltz.

Approximately 50 persons attended. During the morning a number were taken on a tour of Huguenot Street, with luncheon in the DuBois Fort, followed by a tour of the LeFevre House, where the family group was photographed.

Lloyd LeFevre, first vice president, chaired the 2 p.m. business meeting in the absence of DeWitt C. LeFevre, president, unable to attend because of illness. Lloyd LeFevre was named the new president succeeding DeWitt C. LeFevre, who did not choose to run again.

Documentary To Be Shown At New Paltz

NEW PALTZ

A documentary film made by New Paltz College students on a field trip to Alaska will be shown at the SUNY Lecture Center 102 8 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 4.

The film, Suzanne's Lament, is an award winning ecological-geological documentary. Frank Raffaldi, a New Paltz student and member of the film making group will be on hand to explain how and why the film was made.

The program is part of the Fall Lecture Series sponsored by the Geology Department and the Geology Club at the college.

Olana Theme Of Historical Society Talk

KINGSTON

The story of Olana, and of Frederic Church who created that castle on the Hudson, will be told by Dick Slavin, historic site manager of Olana, as guest speaker at the Mountain Top Historical Meeting tonight at the Hunter School at 8 o'clock. The public is invited.

Olana Historic Site, located on a high hill overlooking the Rip Van Winkle Bridge, is the largest historic site in New York State. It is one of the leading Victorian sites in the United States, having checks, documents, and records going back to 1824.

Magazine Editor Arrested in Moscow

RIFTON involved in what was perhaps the most controversial incident of the recent World Peace Conference in Moscow. That came when several members of the American Union's capital city — but detained for only several hours — after he distributed leaflets criticizing the Communist regime and urging the release of some 10,000 political prisoners in Russia.

Cakars is editor of Win Magazine, a weekly left-wing publication that is supported, in part, by the War Resisters League. The magazine is published in Rifton.

Cakars was one of several delegates from this area to attend the World Peace Conference in Moscow. During the afternoon of the last day of the conference, Cakars went to the GUM department store in Moscow, where he left several piles of leaflets calling for the release of Russian political prisoners. He was arrested by Soviet police, taken to police headquarters, and detained for several hours before a Soviet official from the World Peace Congress secured his release.

Cakars was also indirectly

tion—and to those human rights which no state has the right of authority to infringe."

Paul Mayer, who read the statement, was censured by several of his fellow American delegates, and the U.S. delegation voted 67-31 to disavow the statement. But, at the same time, it received support from delegates

Ecology Talk Slated at Bard

ANNANDALE-ON-HUDSON current doctoral dissertation. The osprey is a fish eating hawk that has declined precipitously in the United States as the result of persistent pesticides. Spitzer's work with the osprey on the river mouths and islands of the East Coast from Maine to Georgia convinced him of the importance of conserving whole wild ecosystems for the use of wildlife and people alike. He feels that natural areas are a scarce commodity that should be made more available for city people who cannot travel far to reach them, and his Wednesday night topic in Hegeman 102 at Bard addresses this subject. Spitzer is reportedly interested in setting up a dialogue between social scientists and natural scientists on this issue.

Debbie Conway, Kelli Davis, John Dodig, Holly Menzies, and Joyce Turk won awards for the second consecutive year and received a patch with a double star in addition to their certificates.

The President's Award goes to those receiving the 85th percentile or better on the seven test items, the Gold Achievement Award for those receiving the 80th percentile or better, and the Silver Award for those receiving the 50th percentile or better.

Test items were boys' chin-ups, girls' flexed-arm hang, sit-ups, standing long jump, 50-yard dash, shuttle run, softball throw, and 600-yard run.

Sixth grader Judy Hall won the President's Award, receiving an emblem of the Presidential Seal and certificate. Janine Olsen and Daisy Curtis, also sixth graders, won the Gold

Board of Representatives To Decide on '74 Budget

POUGHKEEPSIE County representatives will decide tonight whether they approve a $45.3 million budget and whether they want a $20.3 million county office complex.

The Dutchess County Board is scheduled to decide whether or not to issue bonds for the construction of a new county court and office complex, probably within downtown Poughkeepsie's urban renewal area near the present county headquarters.

The matter has reported out of committee with a majority of the members of the finance committee favoring the proposal.

An original proposal by County Executive William Bartels for a "humanities building" for such agencies as welfare, Family Court, and housing was scratched in favor of the courts-office concept with the added funding available from the state for narcotics and court related projects.

The budget is reportedly cut to bare essentials, according to Rep. Glen P. Houghtalin, finance committee chairman.

Ulster Hosts Commissioners

KINGSTON be held in January at a place to be announced.

Callahan and Hogan said the discussion should be of significance to all attending in that many of the counties share problems of similar as well as different natures.

The counties represented include, in addition to Ulster: Albany, Rensselaer, Sullivan, Greene, Suffolk, Dutchess, Columbia and Delaware.

The meetings are the first of their kind on either the state or regional basis.

'Heat Exchangers' Beat Fuel Shortage

By JON POWERS

STONE RIDGE

With the energy crunch assuming more serious proportions by the day, the traditionally innovative American people are concocting schemes galore to beat the fuel shortage. Here's one that just might work.

Paul Sturges, a Stone Ridge businessman and inventor, has taken an American tradition — the Franklin stove — and increased its heating efficiency, he claims, by 400 per cent. And, he says he's created a whole new market for firewood.

The idea is really so simple that Sturges' claims may prove to be true. His theory is to capture some of the heat that escapes from the stove up the chimney, and to use that heat to warm a room or entire house.

"An average Franklin stove is 15 per cent efficient at best," said Sturges, meaning that 85 per cent of the heat generated by the stove simply escapes up the chimney. By using what Sturges calls "heat exchangers," only 35 per cent of the heat will be lost; the remaining 65 per cent should comfortably heat any room or any small house.

Sturges' "heat exchangers" are no more than copper tubes — 52 of them — that are installed in the chimney pipe leading from the stove. At the same time, four tiny fans blow fresh air from the outside into the heat exchangers.

So, instead of escaping right up the chimney, the heat generated by the Franklin stove's fire circulates through the copper tubing, where it heats the fresh air blowing in from the outside.

Any new invention, however, has its drawbacks, and Sturges' improved Franklin stove is no exception. The beauty of oil burning furnaces is that the fuel seeps in at a controlled and automatic rate. The wood-burning Franklin stoves, however, must be hand-fed regularly. "Well, it's not automatic," Sturges admitted. "They have to be tended regularly. But that should be no problem for someone who already has a Franklin stove."

And then there's the cost. The average Franklin stove might run about $180. For an extra $200, Sturges will install his heat exchangers. Although that might seem like a lot of money now, there's no telling how precious fuel oil will ultimately become.

On the other hand, firewood is relatively cheap and, most importantly, the supply is virtually endless.

Ridge will market Sturges' invention, and he's already latching on to a supply of Franklin stoves for later adaptation. Sturges has applied for a patent on his heat exchange concept, and says he could manufacture 50 a week if the demand ever reaches that level.

Sturges thinks it will, and he could be right. One thing is for sure: if the energy shortage continues to worsen, warm-blooded Americans may be scrambling for any alternative they can find.

Fuel Shortage Forcing Layoffs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fuel shortage has begun taking its toll on jobs, putting thousands out of work before Christmas in the first of an expected series of major layoffs that may push unemployment up sharply.

Layoffs are reported in the auto, chemical, construction and textile industries.

Frontier Airlines is furloughing 150 workers. Meanwhile, the nation's largest carrier, United Air Lines, announced it would begin layoffs for at least 950 employees Jan. 7.

Economists and labor leaders say it is still too early to determine the full impact of the energy crisis on jobs.

The nation's jobless rate had been anticipated to rise next year as the nation's economic growth slowed, and the fuel shortage now is expected to add to it.

Some private economists have forecast an unemployment rate next year of anywhere from 5 to 8 per cent, compared to the current rate of 4.5 per cent.

A rate of 6 per cent would throw an additional 1.3 million Americans out of work on top of the 4.1 million now without jobs.

But President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers has challenged the higher forecasts and has scheduled a news conference Thursday to declare that the energy crisis will have no massive impact on the economy and unemployment, it was learned.

Sources said that the council will say they expect the unemployment rate will not reach 6 per cent next year.

Labor leaders, mindful of the administration's optimistic forecasts earlier this year on bringing inflation under control, remain unconvinced.

"We're worried about it and are watching the situation," said an official of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union in Denver. "We're convinced there's going to be shortages of petrochemicals," and this will affect jobs in, among others, the fertilizer, chemical, cosmetic and pharmaceutical industries, he said.

AFL-CIO President George Meany urged Congress to insure that workers are compensated for their losses. The Labor Federation successfully lobbied for inclusion in the emergency energy bill approved by the Senate provisions that would protect workers who are laid off.

In addition to the 950 layoffs announced early this week, United Airlines also said it may have to reduce working hours and pay if the fuel shortage worsens.

Here's the picture reported in other industries:

AUTOS — General Motors has announced that it will close 16 plants in the United States and Canada for one week beginning Dec. 17 because of the fall-off in new car sales.

CONSTRUCTION — The Associated General Contractors of America said it anticipates severe problems under the present fuel allocation system and cited a survey indicating "thousands out of work" and the situation "worsening daily."

In Ohio alone, it said, 22 construction projects were closed down this week because of gas, diesel and propane shortages, resulting in the loss of 2,200 jobs.

PETROCHEMICALS — The Society of the Plastics Industry forecasts that 1.6 million workers will be laid off in 1974.

STEEL — Industry officials warn of the loss of 30,000 to 40,000 jobs next year if fuel oil supplies are cut back to 1972 levels.

RETAIL SALES — The AFL-CIO forecasts layoffs in retail sales if shopping hours are curtailed.

Gas Cans, Drums Are Big Sellers

By the Associated Press

New Yorkers, fearful of being caught short in the future, are buying gas cans and huge drums for gasoline storage in record numbers.

Utica area retailers said gas can sales usually pick up at this time of the year because of snowmobilers. But they said

President Nixon's proposed ban on Sunday gas sales and the potential for gas rationing in the future have sent gas can sales spiraling this week.

A Buffalo firm said it has received dozens of orders from individuals wanting to buy 55-gallon drums to store extra gasoline.

"I can't keep them (gas cans) in stock," said Dick Todd, automotive manager of the gas ig-Nichols Discount City in New Hartford. "We're selling two to three times as many as last year. The plastic five and six-gallon cans are going just as fast as the larger ones. We could sell all we could get our hands on if we could get them but manufacturers are behind in their deliveries."

Elmer Feldman, owner of Niagara Frontier Container Service, said, "I've tried to talk them out of it (buying the 55-gallon drums). But one guy insisted, so I sold him a small container."

Niagara Frontier buys and sells containers for industrial use.

Mortimer Margolis, manager of the National Auto Store in Utica, said "The gas cans are selling 10-to-one compared to last year. People have been buying anything that holds gas and won't deteriorate. But you can't get the gas cans because manufacturers can't get the cardboard to box them for shipment."

Daniel Patterson, assistant manager of the State Street Mill in Utica, said "sales on gas cans weren't too good until recently. We've sold about 100 in the last three or four days. A woman asked me where the cans were. I went back to show her and they were gone."

But while sales are skyrocketing, officials have cautioned against the potential danger of the gas cans.

"People aren't aware of what can happen if they carry a gas can in their car," said Lt. Paul Daniels, chief of Utica's fire prevention bureau.

"If you're carrying a five or 10-gallon gas can and have a rear-end collision, the can could be punctured and the gas ignited if it hit a hot exhaust pipe," Daniels said.

"Plastic containers are definitely out," he said. "They can melt, be punctured more easily than metal cans and some of them burn."

It's working

Vows Exchanged

MRS. JOHN W. GORMLEY
(Jo Ann Field)

The Rev. Robert Wright officiated at the wedding ceremony of Miss Jo Ann Field and John W. Gormley in St. Joseph's Church, LaFayette, on Friday, Nov. 23.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Field of LaFayette. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Marjorie Gormley of Phenicia and the late Edward Gormley.

Mrs. Karl W. Field was matron of honor and Edward Gormley of Las Vegas, Nev. was best man for his brother.

A reception was given in their honor on Saturday, Nov. 24, in Syracuse.

The bride is a graduate of State University of New York at Brockport and SUNY at Cortland Graduate School. She is a teacher employed by the Syracuse City School System.

The bridegroom is an alumnus of Sienna College and Syracuse University College of Law. He is an attorney associated with the firm of Limpert, Kenney and Siracusa, Syracuse.

Mr. and Mrs. Gormley will make their home in LaFayette.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Carla DeCicco Weds James P. Habernig

Carla DeCicco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore DeCicco of 621 Kiersted Avenue, Kingston, exchanged nuptial vows with James P. Habernig, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Habernig of Elmen-dorf Heights, Kingston, on Saturday, Nov. 24.

The Rev. Walter Doty officiated at the double ring ceremony and celebrated the Nuptial Mass at St. Mary's Church in Kingston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride designed and made her own gown. Fashioned of white velvet, the gown was styled in a princess line with a ring neckline and bishop sleeves. Appliques of white roses and butterflies accented the entire gown and her cathedral length train of white satin. A stylized headpiece of organza flowers held her two-tiered, silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gardenias and roses.

Sylvana Dudek, sister of the bride, Saugerties, was matron of honor in a gown styled with a royal blue velvet bodice over a pastel blue crepe skirt. She wore a royal blue picture hat and carried a colonial bouquet of carnations and roses in red, white and blue.

Attendants were: Seline DeCicco, niece of the bride; Elaine Habernig, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Cathy Habernig, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Mary Anne Habernig, sister of the bridegroom; Pier DeCicco, sister-in-law of the bride; all

Suzanne Lyons Is Bride of L. M. Tucker II

MRS. LOWELL M. TUCKER II
(Suzanne E. Lyons)

Mrs. Walter J. Lyons of Kingston announces the marriage of her daughter, Suzanne, to Lowell M. Tucker II, Brookline, Mass., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell M. Tucker of Tulsa, Oklahoma. The bride is also the daughter of the late Walter J. Lyons.

The Rev. Thomas O'Hagan officiated at the ceremony at St. Joseph's Church in Kingston. James Sweeney, organist, accompanied John Smalle of Rochester who sang traditional wedding selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Gregory D. Lyons. She selected an A-line gown of ivory satin fashioned with a wedding ring collar and long fitted sleeves. The bodice and neckline were accented with seed pearls and crystal beading. The gown featured a cathedral length train. Her full length veil was shirred to a headpiece of matching satin. She carried a bouquet of baby's breath, stephanotis, pompons and white roses.

Miss Denise A. Lyons of Rochester was maid of honor for her sister in a ruby velvet gown styled with modified Empire bodice of ivory Irish lace. The gown featured a halter top with a ruby velvet bolero jacket. She carried a bouquet of carnations, roses, baby's breath and wheat.

Attendants were Elizabeth J. Gilday of Danbury Conn. and Mrs. Anthony E. Manley of Kingston. Their gowns were identical to the honor attendant's and they carried similar bouquets.

James K. Newbery of Rochester was best man. Ushering were Anthony E. Manley of Kingston and Gregory Taylor, cousin of the bridegroom, Windsor Locks, Conn.

A reception was given at The Hedges in West Park.

The bride, a 1967 graduate of Kingston High School and a 1969 graduate of Elizabeth Seton College, is employed as an administrative secretary at Keystone Custodian Funds, Inc. of Boston.

Her husband, a 1964 alumnus of Kelly High School, will be graduated in June, 1974 from Boston University. He served in the U.S. Army with the Intelligence Corps at the Republic of South Vietnam. He is employed in sales management at Keystone Company of Boston.

After a wedding trip to Caracas, Venezuela, the couple will reside at Brookline, Mass.

Police Wives Conducting Membership Drive

The Kingston Police Wives Club, at their monthly meeting Tuesday, Nov. 13, discussed plans for the upcoming Christmas season, the January election of officers, and the current membership drive.

The December 11 meeting will be informal and will be held at the home of Mrs. Donna Ausanio, 102 Hillside Terrace in Kingston at 7:30 p.m. There will be a short business meeting followed by a Christmas party for the members. It was decided that instead of exchanging gifts among the members each wife will bring a small gift which will be presented by the organization to the Ulster County Infirmary Annex. Suggestions for gifts included talcum powder, stockings, cigarettes, handcream, or any other useful item.

A nominating committee was elected to contact members and inform them of the upcoming elections in January. Ruth Hoffay, Helen Slover, and Kathy Keller are members of the committee. All members are eligible to run for office.

The Kingston Police Wives are in the process of conducting the second membership drive. Any wife of a Kingston Police officer is invited to attend the monthly meetings. The meetings are held on the second Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in the Benedictine Senior Residence Auditorium, unless otherwise announced.

PAW Tryouts Set

The Performing Arts of Woodstock will hold tryouts for the female role of Madame in Jean Genet's "The Maids" on Sunday, Dec. 2. Tryouts will be held at the Town Hall in Woodstock at 2 p.m.

"The Maids" is scheduled for production in mid-March, 1974, and will be directed by Rickie Muller.

Anyone interested in auditioning for the role or assisting in technical work is urged to attend or to contact Edith LeFever or Barbara B. Goldstone, both of Woodstock, for further information.

Christmas Sale

The Ladies Aid of Shokan Reformed Church will have a Christmas sale Saturday, Dec. 1 in the church basement from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Luncheon will be served at noon.

Yule Party

Hudson Valley Good Sam Neighbors will hold their Christmas party and a brief business meeting Sunday, Dec. 9 at 4 p.m. at The Hermans, Sarvis Lane, Newburgh. Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish and dessert and an exchange gift for adults and children.

Check Presentation

Irene Mance, president of Kingston Affiliate No. 69, National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, presented a check for $422 to Jean Simpson, recording secretary for Ulster County Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, at the NHCA November 13 meeting. The money will go towards the Learning Disabilities Saturday program.

Sandy Quincy of Queens demonstrated various hair arrangements using new beauty products.

Rosary Society Plans Yule Party

The Altar Rosary Society of St. Joseph's Church will hold its annual Christmas party Thursday, Dec. 13 at 7:30 p.m. at the Kirkland Hotel, Kingston. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Bernard O'Malley or Mrs. Donald Sweeney. Members decided that they money usually spent for entertainment would be donated to a worthy charity.

The Rev. Thomas O'Hagan will be guest speaker.

Mrs. Kenneth Decker, representative of the organization for the parish Social Action Committee, announced there would be a coffee hour after the 10 o'clock Mass on Sunday, Dec. 16, at which time all new members of the parish are urged to attend to meet their fellow parishioners.

A donation for the purchase of Christmas pastries for the Christmas party for senior citizens of the parish was to be given to Mrs. Tuttle. Mrs. Frank Fuller and Mrs. Lois Kupek offered to make inquiries for the group's annual Christmas donation to a worthy cause.

Mrs. Frank Muller presided at the meeting. Various reports were submitted. Refreshments were served by Mrs. William Ball and Mrs. Joseph Fabbie.

AAUW in New Paltz Schedules Festive Christmas Program

The New Paltz Branch of the American Association of University Women will hold its most festive of general meetings on Wednesday, Dec. 5, at 8 p.m. in the Fireside Room of the New Paltz Reformed Church.

Mrs. Elvira Widing will coordinate an introduction of new members.

A program of music from the Middle Ages, Renaissance, and Baroque periods will be performed by the Collegium Musicum directed by Dr. Mary Jane Corry. Dr. Corry is a harpsichordist and is a SUNY Professor of Music.

The Collegium Musicum is a group of students, townspeople, alumni, and faculty who rehearse weekly in the Music Department at SUNY, New Paltz. They study and perform music rarely heard, principally from the Middle Ages, Renaissance, and Baroque periods.

Insofar as possible, the group tries to reconstruct the performances in the style known in the early periods.

This means using instruments which are no longer commonly used, learning rhythms and melodic patterns which were some of the earliest discoveries in the development of western music, and in some cases it even means transcribing the music from early manuscripts.

Several AAUW study groups will also meet during the month of December:

The group "Media: Issues in Communications" will meet on December 6th, at Mrs. Giles Russell's home, at 9:45 a.m., to discuss the First Amendment as it applies to freedom of the press. Reading material will be distributed.

The group "Woman: Searching for Self" will meet at the home of Miss Eva Clark on December 10th, at 9:45 a.m., to discuss "the true psychology of woman." Those planning to attend should call Miss Clark.

The Evening Book Group will meet on December 18th, at 8 p.m., to discuss MAGGIE AND GEO'S MOTHER by Stephen Crans at the home of Mrs. Ronald Eastland.

The Morning Bridge Group will meet on December 12th, at 10 a.m., at the home of Miss Gladys White.

The Evening Bridge Group will meet on December 6th, at 7:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Elvira Widing.

The Afternoon Bridge Group will meet on December 10th, at 12:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. John Wyman. Mrs. Louis Pagon continues to teach the piano in her home on Friday mornings from 9:30 to 11:30.

Wife Would Like to 'Frame' Her Lawyer Husband

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Tell that doctor's wife to move over! (When she complained to her husband that she felt sick, he told her to take two aspirin and go to bed.) I am the wife of a prominent attorney, and here is my story:

Nearly two years ago when we moved across country, our van was involved in a serious accident, and most of my prized antiques were destroyed. Yes, they were insured, but we haven't collected because my husband hasn't had time to follow up on the claim.

Last summer our 6-year-old son was hospitalized for two weeks when his counselor at day camp slipped and spilled hot wax over 60 per cent of my son's body! (That was the last time they attempted to make candles at that camp.)

Altho the camp admitted their liability, and provided us with all the necessary forms, we have not collected for the hospitalization, medication or plastic surgery because my husband simply hasn't gotten around to doing the legal work yet.

I have a scrapbook filled with newspaper articles written about my husband, but if you print this in your "Dear Abby" column, I will frame it, and hang it in the bathroom!

MAY DAY

DEAR MAY: It's practically framed. (And so's your old man.)

DEAR ABBY: I sure got a bang out of all those women who wrote that they were married to doctors, plumbers, carpenters and hairdressers, but when it came to performing services for their own families, they wouldn't do a thing.

I am married to a man who provides a personal service, but I sure don't want any of his professional services. At least not yet. He's a mortician.

LOVES LIFE

DEAR ABBY: You are being unfair when you attribute group sex to animals! Some animals mate for life. Some are promiscuous, and some are polygamous, but if you know of any that practice group sex in any form — from four-somes to the whole neighborhood, please name the breed or apologize for attributing human aberrations to the more normal furred and feathered creatures who cannot write to Dear Abby.

barking, I get three copies of it in three separate envelopes — all meticulously anonymous. They are obviously from the same person.

Since I don't know who the person is, but know he (or she) reads your column, I'd like that person to know that I ignore such gutless infantile tactics, and place anonymous poison pen letters on the same level with barking dogs.

Chocolate Lovers - Your Own Bread at Last

Are you a chocolate aficionado? (One of the multitude who love any flavor as long as it's you-know-what.) Then quick — get your scissors and cut out this recipe for Chocolate-Rum Loaves. It isn't every day that you find one for chocolate-flavored yeast bread!

And it's so very special. Quick or old fashioned oats impart to it their unique texture and whole grain goodness, while wheat germ adds its own nutritional bonus. But for all its nourishment, samplers are much more impressed by that distinctive flavor: subtly sweet, decidedly chocolate!

Frost lavishly with a yummy rum icing and it becomes festive enough to serve to holiday guests — at a neighborhood coffee. OR perhaps at an intimate tea. However, wherever it's served, this unforgettable Chocolate-Rum Loaf will make a big hit!

Chocolate Rum Loaves

Makes 2 loaves

Two cakes compressed or two pkg. dry yeast
One-quarter cup lukewarm water

Two oz. (two sq.) unsweetened chocolate

One-quarter cup butter or margarine
One and one-half cups scalded milk

One teaspoon vanilla
Two-thirds cup sugar
Two teaspoons salt

Two eggs, slightly beaten
Four and one-half to five cups sifted all-purpose flour
One-half cup wheat germ

One cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked

Rum Icing:
One cup sifted confectioners sugar

One and one-half tablespoons butter or margarine

One tablespoon rum

Two to three teaspoons milk
Soften yeast in lukewarm water. (Use warm water for dry yeast.) Melt chocolate and butter over low heat. Pour into large mixing bowl. Stir in scalded milk, vanilla, sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in eggs and one cup flour; beat vigorously. Add softened yeast, wheat germ and oats. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas, knead until satiny, about 10 minutes. Round dough into ball; place in buttered large bowl. Turn the dough in the bowl so that the top is buttered. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in size, about one hour.

Punch dough down; cover; let rest 10 minutes. Divide dough in half; shape to form two loaves. Place in two greased 8½x4½x2½-inch loaf pans. Brush lightly with melted or softened butter. Cover; let rise until nearly double in size, about 45 minutes. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 to 35 minutes or until done.

For icing, beat sugar and butter together. Add rum and milk. Frost bread while still hot.

Speaker Named for Meeting of Mid-Hudson Rose Society

Stuart Dobson, vice-president of the Westchester Rose Society, will bring his knowledge of Rose Sources to the next meeting of the Mid-Hudson Rose Society Wednesday, Dec. 5 at 8 p.m. at the Bonanza Office, Heritage Savings Bank, Route 9W, Kingston. Mr. Dobson has done extensive research to locate where top quality roses may be obtained in the United States, Canada and Europe. Some of his sources were listed in a recent article in The American Rose Magazine. Since rose growing buffs are planning now for their gardens of next spring, this is an appropriate time for Mr. Dobson's visit with rosarians in this area. A career business researcher, Mr. Dobson has combined his love of roses with his love of surveys and statistics. For several years he has headed a Westchester Rose Society survey of the behavior of new roses, their strengths and weaknesses and growth habits in the Westchester area. This is a part of the National Survey of the American Rose Society, called The Proof of the Pudding. From the information provided by rose growers throughout the United States, the American Rose Society published a national rating for each new rose released to the American public. After five years, the national ratings are averaged and the rose receives a final rating. This enables the rose grower to know which roses are superior, which bloom sparsely, which may be winter hardy and which most likely to die in cold weather. Mr. Dobson's interest in the Proof of the Pudding research led him to seek sources in this country and abroad where top quality roses may be obtained. He will share his knowledge with Mid-Hudson Rose Society members and will show pictures in color of many varieties of roses, new and old. Everyone interested in roses is invited to the meeting. Admission and refreshments are free. Also featured will be a Christmas sale under the directions of the program chairman, Miss Lily Shohan, proceeds of which will be used to enable the Society to present its first Rose Show in June, 1974. Those who are seeking gifts for family and friends will find a number of suggestions at bargain prices. There will be an Information Table with free literature on rose culture, nurseries where roses may be purchased and copies of the AMERICAN ROSE Magazine may be seen. Also Consulting Rosarians will be available for free assistance with rose problems. Since winter is the time when gardeners catch up on their reading, the December 5th meeting is a "must" for source material for hobbyists with a hopeful green thumb.

African Music Program Planned

The Department of Music at Vassar College in Poughkeepsie will present a program of African music on Sunday, Dec. 2 at 3:30 p.m. in Skinner Hall. Participants Andrew T. N. Tracey, Venancio N. Mbande and Alfred G. Zantinger will include tapes, films and live demonstrations in their presentation.

Mr. Tracey, chief musicologist and editor of the Journal of the International Library of African Music, is the son of the well-known writer and music collector, Hugh T. Tracey. Author of several articles on the subject of African music, he has made many contributions to the study and analysis of the music, including the development of a modified system of notation. Mr.

Mbande, a member of the Chopi people of southern Mozambique, came to America under a University of Pennsylvania Museum program as a master xylophone maker, virtuoso performer and composer. He is the leader of an orchestra at the Marievale Mine in South Africa, where he is employed. Mr. Zantinger, a research associate at the Ethnic Arts department at the University of Pennsylvania Museum, has spent several years working in Africa. Trained as a folklorist, he also produces educational films, one of which deals with Chopi orchestral music.

The event, which will be sponsored by the Smith Fund, is being presented in connection with the World Music course at Vassar. It is open to the public without charge.

NATURE showed her whimsical side in the Maternity Department of St. Francis Hospital in Poughkeepsie recently, and both mothers seem delighted by her flight of fancy. Mrs. Paul Bufalieri, left, wife of an employee of the Internal Revenue Service, smiles at her tiny (3 pound, 6 ounce) preemie son, Vincent James, while Mrs. John Kenneth Carlson, wife of a student at the Culinary Institute of America, seems to be pondering the enormity of future food bills as she holds hefty (11 pound, 2 ounce) Kenneth. Both mothers are nurses at St. Francis Hospital. Donna Bufalieri is an RN, and Linda Carlson an LPN enrolled in the Dutchess Community College nursing program.

hints from Heloise

By HELOISE
DO YOU KNOW WHERE YOUR BOOTS ARE?

Dear Heloise: We have an enclosed garage that adjoins the house. About this time of the year, I always take one of our picnic benches and put it up against one of the walls in the garage.

This makes a convenient place for the little ones to sit down and put on their boots or rubbers — it is even handy for Mom and Dad too.

When not in use, the outdoor shoes can be lined up under the bench. They are not in the way, but are handy when we need them.

Eleanore I.

I used to go you one better. I not only kept a picnic bench in my garage, but I also kept a picnic table. And I kept it there all year round.

This kept the kiddos in out of the heat during the hot months — in fact, they loved to color out there. Many times I gave them their lunch on paper plates on their table in the garage.

Heloise

Dear Heloise: I was just about to discard my dish drainer because the little rubber tips had deteriorated.

This was causing rust stains on my sink enamel and was also scratching my plastic drainboard.

I happened to remember buying a package of pencil erasers for my son at the variety store and thought, why not?

It worked — I put an eraser on each little worn-out tip and my dish drainer looked good as new.

However, I do have to remember to replace my son's erasers before he misses them!

Karen H.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: I don't hold it against you that you didn't print my hint — I sent in about eight years ago — because I have a confession to make.

I stopped using it too!

Nancy C.

Dear Heloise: My Mom does a lot of baking so her rubber spatula really gets a workout.

When it gets all battered around the edges, she trims it off and it is still good for many more bake sessions.

After several trimmings, it can still be used in small narrow-necked bottles to scrape out the contents.

ALL IN A NIGHT'S WORK — Wilt Chamberlain, the non-playing coach of the San Diego Conquistadors, displays various emotions as he watches his team lose to the New York Nets Wednesday night. At left, he shouts instructions to his team from the bench; at center, he shares open-mouth amazement at a bone-head play committed by his players; and at right, he hangs his head in dejection as his team goes down to a 134-108 defeat. ## Wilt Looked OK... His Team Was Awful UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Wilt Chamberlain came to New York hoping his team would play as well as it had recently when it dealt Carolina back-to-back losses. He knew the media would be out in abundance to watch him sit on the bench and he didn't want to look bad.

Dozens of reporters showed up for the event, the Big Dipper's first appearance here as a coach, as well as representatives of the three major networks, ABA Commissioner Mike Stoen and Nets slaughtered by the New York owner Roe Boe. Unfortunately Nets 134-108 last night. After-

ABA Chief Accuses NBA

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mike Stoen, commissioner of the American Basketball Association, accused the National Basketball Association Wednesday night of throwing false issues into the path of the merger towards which both leagues are legally bound to work.

"I just don't think they want a merger," Stoen said. "They've been saying all along it's the players and the issue of the option clause which is preventing the merger but that's ridiculous. I doubt if there'll even be an option clause in any sport in a few years."

Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the NBA, said recently only the NBA Players' Association's refusal to sanction a merger without elimination of the option clause was holding up the joining of the two leagues.

Meanwhile, both leagues continue to have several teams operate in the red and many more barely in the black, while paying the highest salaries of any professional sport.

Permit Dispute Back in Court

By LYNN MULVANEY KINGSTON — The question of whether or not a person's social security number should be a requirement for obtaining a hunting permit will come up in Ulster County Supreme Court once again.

The suit was originally brought by Frederick G. Faerber III, president of the Ulster County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs and Rosendale Attorney William P. Curran, also a sportsman.

The action was brought against State Commissioner of Environmental Conservation Henry L. Diamond and Rosendale Town Clerk Catherine O'Leary who refused Faerber a social security number for a license. Curran, although he gave his social security number and received a hunting license, nevertheless objects to the requirement and "wants the number off the license."

When the case first came before Justice Bruhn Nov. 2 before the hunting season opened, the respondents, Diamond and O'Leary, through counsel, moved to have the case dismissed because the State Department of Environmental Conservation had issued a decision Sept. 28 stating that the social security requirement was no longer necessary. This action followed "feedback" the County will start Dec. 3.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Houston Coach John Egan wouldn't be a bit worried if he received a telegram from Rockets General Manager Ray Patterson reading: "Stay Away!" Egan's crew is playing .500 ball on the road with five victories in 10 games. Houston itself, however, is a disaster area for the Rockets, who own a 2-10 record at home.

Houston made New York its latest road victim with a 114-106 victory Wednesday night that pinned the National Basketball Association champions with their fourth straight loss and left them only one game over .500 at 12-11.

The Rockets' bombarded the Knicks with such devastating effect in the second period that New York's defenses crumbled as it has never broken before this season. Houston hit 14 of its first 17 shots in the quarter and mounted a 30-point lead at 68-38.

It's to New York's credit that the Knicks were able to whittle the lead down to four points in the third period but the effort exhausted the Knicks. Mike Newlin hit for eight straight points to make it 92-83 going into the fourth quarter and the closest the Knicks could come in the final period was five points at 107-102.

"The Knicks just can't put it together with Willis Reed and Jerry Lucas injured," said Newlin, who finished with 26 points, the same point total as New York's Walt Frazier. "Subconsciously the Knicks are running their plays like Reed or Lucas are in the lineup because it's second nature for them to think that way."

Dave DeBusschere, held scoreless in the first half and totalling only seven for the game, 11 below his average, called Houston "probably the most physical team in the league." Several Knicks had bruises to prove it.

"We have to be more aggressive," lamented Knick Coach Red Holzman. The Knicks played like champs in the second half, especially when Holzman sent in former UCLA star Henry Bibby, who scored 17 of his 21 points after intermission. Bibby triggered the New York third period comeback with nine points.

"We put Bibby in when we feel the time is right for him," Holzman explained. "He's a hustler and can get things moving." This was the second straight home game in which the Knicks were frustrated by the second half play of an opposing player. Jim Barnett of Golden State ripped New York on Saturday with his penetrating layups and

KC Picks Johnson

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Phil Johnson has his work cut out for him.

The newly-named head coach of the Kansas City-Omaha Kings takes over a team that has lost eight straight, 18 of their first 24 and is floundering in the cellar of the Midwest Division of the National Basketball Association.

The job is the 32-year-old Johnson's first as head coach in the NBA, although he was head coach at Weber State for three years. At Weber State he posted a 68-16 record and won three Big Sky Conference championships before rejoining Dick Motta as assistant coach of the Chicago Bulls.

Johnson signed a contract for the remainder of this season and two more with the Kings. In making the announcement, Kings General Manager Joe Axelson said, "We're pleased that Chicago made it possible for us to get Johnson at this awkward time in the playing season. He fulfills every criteria we had established in our search for a new head coach following Bob Cousy's resignation."

"Name: Head coaching experience, youth, winning background and a hard-nosed approach. He's all of these. I'm very impressed with him."

Leaf's Kelly Remains A Verbal Diplomat

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Red Kelly, a member of the Canadian Parliament during his playing days with the Toronto Maple Leafs, is still a politician.

Kelly, who was fired as coach of Pittsburgh last January, got his chance for verbal vindication Wednesday night after his new National Hockey League club, the Toronto Maple Leafs, beat the Penguins 4-3.

But ever the diplomat, the new Toronto coach avoided any talk of revenge.

"When you've got the horses you can come from behind," said Kelly, whose club roared back from a 3-1 deficit.

Elsewhere in the NHL, Montreal downed Los Angeles 5-3; Boston and Chicago skated to a 3-3 tie and California beat Minnesota 5-1.

In the World Hockey Association, the Houston-Winnipeg game ended in a 4-4 tie, the New Jersey-Edmonton game was postponed until tonight and Vancouver dumped Minnesota 5-3.

Ron Ellis capped a three-goal rally with 8:25 gone in the final period, making Kelly a winner in his first appearance in Pittsburgh since he changed election districts.

"We played a whale of a game," said the former politician who was met by an ovation from the fans, proving he hadn't lost his appeal with the Pittsburgh constituents.

"There must have been a lot of people who enjoyed hockey when I coached here," said Kelly. "They saw good hockey here and maybe they think I had something to do with it."

Chicago 3, Boston 3, tie Dale Tallon's second goal of the game at 13:46 of the final period pulled the Black Hawks into a tie with the Bruins.

Canadiens 5, Kings 3 Center Pete Mahovich and defenseman Guy Lapointe scored two goals apiece during a five-goal barrage in the first period that enabled Montreal to beat Los Angeles.

The triumph was Montreal's fourth in a row while the Kings stretched their winless string to eight games.

Seals 5, Norths Stars 1 Pete Laframboise scored twice for California and 38-year-old Marv Edwards filled goals and 30 assists.

Leafs, Wings Trade DETROIT (AP) — The Toronto Maple Leafs traded Pierre Jarry to the Detroit Red Wings Wednesday for Tim Ecclestone in a National Hockey League one-for-one deal of forwards.

Jarry, 26, handles the puck well and is a strong skater. Ecclestone, 23, was fifth in scoring last year for Detroit with 18 goals and 30 assists.

College Basketball Openers Set Friday

By KEN RAPPOPORT
The 1973-74 college basketball season opens with a bang Friday night as seven of the country's ranked teams start shooting — including those old smoothies, the UCLA Bruins.

The Bruins and their fabulous 75-game winning streak open at home against Arkansas and hope to keep rolling Saturday night against fourth-ranked Maryland.

Along with the national row and nine times out of the last season, No. 11 San Francisco, No. 15 Arizona, No. 16 Penn, No. 17 Jacksonville, No. 18 Alabama and No. 20 Memphis State open their seasons.

San Francisco, favored to repeat as champions in the West Coast Athletic Conference, hosts San Diego University.

Arizona, one of the favorites champions, who have won the NCAA title seven years in a row in the Western Athletic Conference, entertains Illinois.

Penn, the choice of the Ivy league, meets New Hampshire in a doubleheader at Philadelphia's Palestra.

Jacksonville, a strong independent from Florida, plays St. John's, N.Y., in a tournament at Clemson, S.C.

Alabama, one of the class teams in the Southeastern Conference, travels to Georgia Tech.

Memphis State, last year's NCAA finalist against UCLA who dropped out of the Missouri Valley Conference this season, takes on Missouri-Rolla at home.

The most glamorous name in the field, of course, is UCLA — a team that has been described as "inhuman" by some.

"Sometimes I don't think they're human," says Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell.

But he's nevertheless looking forward to opening against the nation's No. 1 team, even if it's at the Bruins' cozy Pauley Pavilion.

"You don't get an opportunity like this very often," said Driesell. "If we could break their streak, the consequences would be greater than if we won the national championship. It would be remembered longer."

Houk-Williams Triangle Is Nearing a Solution

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Oakland-New York-Detroit managerial triangle finally may be resolved next Wednesday at the major league baseball winter meetings in Houston.

The Detroit Tigers, who cover former Yankees' manager Ralph Houk, have requested and been granted by American League president Joe Cronin a formal hearing Wednesday morning pertaining to the Tigers' hiring of Houk.

Later that same day, the Yankees and Oakland will meet in an attempt to iron out their problems in New York's bid to hire A's manager Dick Williams, who has a year was hired by Detroit.

remaining on his Oakland contract.

Oakland owner Charles O. Finley has demanded compensation from New York in the form of a player or players for the loss of Williams, who has said he will not return to the A's next year.

In turn, the Yankees have made an identical demand of indemnification from Detroit for Houk, who resigned at the end of the 1973 season with a year remaining on his New York contract.

The Tigers requested that the Yankees had accepted Houk's resignation before he was hired by Detroit.

Davis Cup Is Breathing New Life Into Laver

By WILL GRIMSLEY
CLEVELAND (AP) — The Davis Cup has sparked a new fire in the breast of Rod Laver, the aging Australian tennis warrior who had run out of worlds to conquer.

"It's nice to have a feeling of wanting to win again," the 35-year-old Queenslander said today during a break in preparations for the weekend Challenge Round battle against No. 1 ranked Stan Smith and his U.S. teammates.

"I had lost my drive. Tournaments didn't have any meaning for me any more. There was no incentive in big purses. Money no longer was the ultimate to make me play well."

"I needed something else, and the Davis Cup is it. There's no money in it — just expenses — but it's a great feeling to be back playing on a team for your country after 11 years."

Laver is one of the old pros, one of a lineup of former world champions assembled by Australia in a bid to recapture the 73-year-old symbol of international sports supremacy which the United States has held for five years.

The others are Ken Rosewall, 39; Mal Anderson, 38, and the "baby" of the team, reigning U.S. champion John Newcombe, 29. They've won a total of 25 of the prestigious Grand Slam events — the Australian, French, Wimbledon and U.S. championships.

NBC Will Bump Jets-Colts Game
NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Broadcasting Company said Wednesday it would not televise Sunday's New York Jets-Baltimore Colts game locally even though the game at Shea Stadium is a sellout.

Instead, NBC announced its New York affiliate WNBC-TV would televise the more important Cleveland at Kansas City game in New York. It's believed this is the first time a sold-out home game has not been televised since Congress passed its anti-blackout legislation in September.

Jones Has Swing In Perfect Order

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) — Grier Jones almost didn't play in the $150,000 Walt Disney World Open. He has some trouble with his swing. And he has some trouble with his iron play. And he has a bad back.

SC's Golden Boy Dietzel Again Sees the Sunlight

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — question." Dietzel said. "There's absolutely no truth whatsoever to that."

In 1955, at the age of 31, Dietzel became one of the youngest head football coaches in the history of the Southeastern Conference and in four years produced a national championship for Louisiana State.

He left in 1962 for Army, where he previously had served as an assistant, but only two of his four seasons at West Point were winners and he departed in discouragement for South Carolina in 1966.

Although Dietzel made no promises, his arrival on the Gamecock campus aroused hopes for football prowess which have never been fulfilled.

Only twice prior to this year had Dietzel posted a winning record at South Carolina, a 7-4 mark in 1969 and a 6-5 mark in 1971.

Shortly after the 1971 season, he made a much-publicized visit to Denver to consider a job as general manager and head coach of the professional Broncos.

He decided against the post, but the 1972 season was a 4-7 campaign for the Gamecocks, producing calls from many of the seldom charitable South Carolina fans for a new head coach.

Dietzel, armed with a 10-year contract signed in 1969 for an annual salary of $31,500, rode out the storm, realigned his staff and installed the veer offense with a quarterback who could run it.

With sophomore Jeff Grantz calling the signals, South Carolina this year matched the best record of Dietzel's eight-year regime, the best in Gamecock history, and whipped arch-rival Clemson for the first time in three years.

"We went out this year to be the best team in the history of the school and we came close," said Dietzel.

"I am planning on the same coaching staff taking the South Carolina football team to Georgia Tech next year, and I assure you that I will be there if the good Lord is willing," said Dietzel.

He is looking forward not only to the 1974 opener against the Yellow Jackets but also to a possible invitation to the Peach Bowl, which will be the Gamecocks' if Georgia Tech upsets Georgia Saturday.

"We really would very much like to go to the Peach Bowl," he said. "I know we've got about 25,000 fans that would like to go to the Peach Bowl, too."

Dietzel is still boyish looking at 49, but he is beginning to feel middle aged and this year suffered an attack of diverticulitis that put him in the hospital for eight days.

The attack, forcing him to miss a game for the first time in his football career, produced a flock of rumors that have refused to die around the gossipy South Carolina campus.

One of the more persistent is that Dietzel will become a full-time athletic director, turning over the head coaching job to someone else.

Even before the start of the season there was talk Bob Gatling, lured from The Citadel to install the veer offense, might take over the reins.

Lately the name most widely mentioned is Bill Mallory, the highly successful coach of Miami of Ohio, Dietzel's alma mater.

"That's absolutely out of the

And he also has a share of the first-round lead.

Jones relied on brilliant sand play and deft putting for a five-under-par 67 Wednesday and a share of the 18-hole lead with longshot Larry Wise.

"I managed to avoid disaster," Jones said after his erratic round. He missed six greens, hit six sand traps and took one trip into the trees — but needed only 26 putts on the massive greens — in a bid for his first title of the season.

"I haven't played in more than a month," said the 27-year-old Jones. "I've had some back trouble — I couldn't swing a club or ride a bike or do anything. And I didn't know until just a couple of days ago that I'd be able to play here."

Jones and Wise, a 32-year-old former club pro who is making another try at the tour this year, shared a one-stroke lead over Bob E. Smith, Bobby Mitchell, Craig Dear and rookies Larry Nelson and Jim Masserio, tied at 68.

More than a dozen players were at 69, including 61-year-old Sam Snead and rookie sensation Ben Crenshaw, who had to rally from a double bogey six that was brought about by a lost ball.

Jack Nicklaus, winner of the first two Disneys in 1971 and 1972 and heavily favored to take the $30,000 first prize again, had a 70 despite some poor putting on the front nine at the 6,951-yard Palm Course at Disney World.

Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino, Tom Weiskopf and Johnny Miller are not competing in the 12-month schedule this year.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Denver Broncos can insure the first winning season in their history Sunday and make a solid move toward their first post-season game and much of the credit has to go to Floyd Little and Charley Johnson.

Little, who has starred for years with a losing club, is finally getting the publicity he has long deserved. And it's not hard to see why.

Latest AFC figures released today show he ranks as the American Conference's leading touchdown producer with 12 and is third in rushing with 834 yards.

Johnson, who also played much of his career in the shadows with losers at St. Louis and Houston, ranks third in the AFC in passing, Johnson leads in passing yardage (1,983) and touchdowns (19).

Other figures show Buffalo's O.J. Simpson closing in on Jim Brown's single season rushing mark of 1,863 yards. Simpson has 1,447 with three games left.

Of course, Brown got his in a 12-game schedule while Simpson has 14 games.

Oakland's Ken Stabler is the leading passer, followed by Griese of Miami and Johnson, and Houston running back Fred Willis is tops among pass receivers with 48 catches.

Reggie Rucker of New England and Ed Podolak of Kansas City are tied for second at 43. Manello, and driver education Glen Edwards and Mike

Four Adirondack Firsts For Mary Beth Pechloff

ALBANY (UPI) — Mary Beth Pechloff, a member of the Stone Deck Swimming Club of High Falls, captured four first places in the Adirondack AAU swim meet at the Albany State College Pool. Crawford Brown scored three firsts in the competition limited to age groups 13-14 and 15-17 only.

Miss Pechloff won the 100 yard butterfly event in 1:05.5, the 100 freestyle in 59.7 seconds; 200 yard individual medley in 2:26.8 and was clocked in 1:09.8 for first in the 100 yard backstroke.

Brown's firsts came in the 15-17 boys in the 100 yard butterfly (59.5), 100 yard backstroke (1:01.6) and 200 yard individual medley, 2:16.0.

Maureen Begley (15-17) won the 100 yard breaststroke in 1:10.7 and was fifth in the 100 yard fly (1:12.5) and 200 yard IM (2:46.0). Prizes were awarded for the first six places.

Alex Mazur won the boys (15-17) 100 yard breaststroke in 1:14.8 and was third in the 200 yard IM in 2:40. Steve Pechloff, sixth member of the Stone Deck contingent, won a second in the 100 yard breast stroke in 1:18.0.

Chris Burns of Stone Dock took second place in the boys (11-12) 50-yard breaststroke in the third annual Massachusetts Regional YMCA-AAU swim meet at North Hampton, Mass. His time was 36 seconds flat.

Your Horoscope

Friday, November 30

GENERAL TENDENCIES: activities which have been difficult to pursue in the past, whatever has to do with health, wealth and new beginnings. Make contacts that are important to your advancement. Also, fine for making new friends and enjoying old ones. An excellent time to extend your horizons far beyond their present limitations.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Joining congenials at the fun places you enjoy is wise now. Think over your fondest aims and pursue them with vigor. Show that you have wisdom.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Sound thinking will show you how to make your life more successful. Some public work you do now can add much to present prestige. Keep active.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can now engage in new

First attend to the work that is important and then engage in favorite hobby. Anything of a creative nature can be handled well now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study your home and see what can be done about expansion for more comfort. Evening is fine for entertaining. Invite only congenials.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Ideal day to talk over those clever ideas with the right person who can help you make a success of them. Use your good judgment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Fine day for embellishing your surroundings and adding more comfort. Put a plan in operation that will add to your abundance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Discuss your aims and future plans with associates. Don't permit a small minded person to curb your style. Show that you are independent.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Check over your ideas with specialists before you put them in operation. The romantic side of life can be very pleasant in the evening.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: . . . he or she will be one of those individuals who will like practically everyone and should be taught early not to be so naive or there could be unexpected hurt in life instead of great success. Direct the critics.

Dormouse Plays Relaxed Defense

By Oswald and James Jacoby

into somnolence while the March Hare bid two notrump and was raised to game by the Hatter.

Alice opened the five of spades. The deuce was played from dummy and there was the dormouse asleep again. They prodded him. He stirred, yawned and played the nine.

The March Hare won with the 10 and led a low club. Alice hopped up with the king and want of anything better to do led her last spade. There was the dormouse asleep again.

Wakened again, he played the eight of spades. South ducked, but the dormouse needed no further prods. He led another spade since there was no way to keep him from getting in with the ace of clubs and winding up with a total of three spade tricks.

"Curiouser and curiouser" thought Alice. "I wonder if he was really asleep. Had he played one of his high spades at trick one, South would have ducked and we would have had no way to beat the contract."

The dormouse, sitting East, had awoken long enough to overcall the Hatter's opening club bid and had lapsed back

National Report on Urban Renewal

Kingston Part of HUD Study

By HUGH REYNOLDS

WASHINGTON, D.C. The Department of Housing and Urban Development has put Kingston on the map, along with Boston, Mass., St. Paul, Minn., Tulsa, Okla., Louisville, Ky. and Durham N.C., all six being part of a national urban renewal land disposition study.

HUD has hired two consulting firms to carry out the study. RTKL Inc. of Baltimore, Md., represented by James R. Schulte and Real Estate Research Corporation of Washington, D. C. represented by Judy L. Mauldin. Schulte and Ms. Mauldin are both in Kingston at present conducting interviews with urban renewal officials, city officials and community leaders on Kingston's urban renewal programs.

It is not altogether clear why Kingston was selected as one of the test cities although Kingston is unique in that it has an extremely large program for a city its size, $25 million for a city of 25,000 population, but it would appear that the word "delay" and in Kingston urban renewal annals that means the summer of 1967, had something to do with it.

The "purpose of the study," as outlined by the consultants to those persons being interviewed, is primarily to "identify the principal causes of delay in the urban renewal process."

That is to be followed by a program of formulation of strategies for assisting in the disposition of land in projects experiencing prolonged delay in execution and finally, "to formulate action strategies to prevent projects from experiencing prolonged delay."

The consultants say they are not conducting an expose in the classic sense that they are interested in the entire program in Kingston. However, initial emphasis seems to be focusing on Kingston urban renewal's most traumatic days, that period which began in March of 1967 and ended in September of that year, ending with the resignation of the entire urban renewal agency and its executive director.

Urban renewal, which had been in the final phases of demolition and was preparing to move into land disposition at the time of the '67 controversies, ground to a halt after that and did not get going again until January of 1969 when a new executive director,

James G. Connors, was hired. Since then urban renewal has progressed to the point where it is something of a showcase with millions of dollars of new construction, both private and public being carried out in the past three years.

The consultants will review the entire history of urban renewal in Kingston, from its inception in the late 1950's through planning, execution to its present status.

HUD intends to use the studies to:

- Identify major causes of delay;
- Recommend methods of accelerated (land) disposition;
- Modify HUD procedures;
- And issue commentary on local renewal processes.

The initial study is expected to take from 14 to 16 weeks with final reports forthcoming late next year.

Sheriff Martin, Delegates To Attend Crime Institute

KINGSTON Ulster County Sheriff William B. Martin and two delegates from the Junior League of Kingston will attend a training institute on crime and delinquency Dec. 2-6 in Houston, Texas.

The four-day "Impact" training institute is sponsored by the Association of Junior Leagues, Inc. with the cooperation of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency.

Attending the institute as representative of the Junior League of Kingston will be Mrs. Almerin O'Hara Jr., the League's chairman of the Jail Library Committee, and Mrs. Pat Bottino.

The institute will be based on results of community surveys around the nation on courts, corrections, law enforcement and prevention.

Kingston Junior League members under the chairmanship of Mrs. Edgar Roberts conducted a community survey on crime and delinquency in the Ulster County Area during the past several months.

The keynote address at the institute will be presented by Russell W. Peterson, former Governor of Delaware and former chairman of the National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals.

Former Attorney General Elliot Richardson and Milton G. Rector, president of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency, are also scheduled to address the delegates.

Mrs. O'Hara and Mrs. Bottino have been working closely with Sheriff Martin for the past year in developing the recently completed Ulster County Jail Library.

Sen. Rolison Plans Talk

POUGHKEEPSIE State Senator Jay P. Rolison will speak on legislation the Dutchess County School Administrators' Association has asked him to support at a Dec. 12 meeting of that organization.

And J. Robert Daggett, executive director of the Assembly Education Committee, will speak on some items before that committee.

The 4:30 p.m. program will be held at the Holiday Inn, South Road, Poughkeepsie. Steven Cleary, counsel for the State Administrators' Association, will also be a dinner guest.

Rolison, a practicing attorney in Poughkeepsie, has been elected to four terms in the State Senate and is serving as the chairman of the Senate Standing Committee on Local Government.

He also serves on the Senate Standing Committee on Education, as well as Judiciary, Codes, Elections, and Banks, and is a member of Joint Legislative Committees on Reapportionment and Court Reorganization.
